FLYING COMEDIAN LESS AIR-MINDED ABOUT THE GLIDERS

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal.,
March 10.—Say, this glider con-traption of Lindbergh's looks like a pretty good racket. He went up yesterday
and competed
with a buzzard, and the fowl
got second money.

The competition was going along about even till Lindy lost a wing and didn't even stop to pick it up, just kept right on. When the old bird saw that he got disgusted and withdrew and went back to his original trade. Lindy was telling me the other night about these things. He thinks they have a great future in training men to fly. Cost is only three or four hundred dollars. No engine, no gasoline. All you need is a high hill and a strong wind. And a few old boys to yank you out into space. All sounds marvelous, but when I try it, it's going to be inside a room, with the floor lined with feather beds.

Yours,
WILL.

PA NEW OBSERVES

The summer tourists have started already. Pa New observed a car well laden with luggage and a big police dog in the back seat passing through town today. Attached to the back of the car was a trailer well filled with what might have been a summer camping outfit. The car bore Arkansas license.

Willis Major, 717 Croton avenue, sent an old picture into The News of today which depicts a scene in the Civil War. This picture was painted in 1861 and is an interesting article, showing the huts where the soldiers camped and some of the battle action.

At the present time, country roads which are not improved, are in about as bad a condition as they could be.

It is surprising how many early risers we have in New Castle. Pa. New saw quite a number of men and a woman walking down town streets at five o'clock this morning.

Traffic conditions in the alleys of the downtown section of the city are terrible on Saturday afternoons. Pa. New found Saturday. Sycamore alley found cars parked on both sides of the alley, and a motorist trying to pass in between got wedged. Traffic was tied up for a considerable time before the machines could be untangled.

Many New Castle motorists, and plenty of visitors from out of town were out Sunday afternoon, enjoying the beautiful weather. Roads leading from the city in all directions were well travelled by machines, indicating what conditions are going to be like on Sunday afternoons this summer.

Strange as it may seem, there is one place within 20 miles of New Castle where hunters and fishers are well-served. (Continued On Page Two) Separate trial for the four alleged slayers of Clark Rea, aged Neshaunock township farmer, was indicated at court this morning when the case against William Grimm was taken up before Judge J. A. Chambers, in court room No. 2. The other three who have been indicted for the murder are, Charles Llewellyn, Jesse Martin, and Jack McDevitt.

Clark Rea was murdered on the night of January 15th, when windows of his home were broken and he was shot after three persons had entered his home. About $47 was taken from his pocket as he lay dead upon the floor and his brother, E. H. Rea was robbed of a small sum.

The four young men who have been indicted were arrested soon after the murder and robbery. They asked for separate trial and the Grimm case is the first to come up.

Nineteen Years of Age

Grimm is 19 years of age. He is a slender built young man, with light complexion and light brown hair. He was dressed in a dark suit with green necktie when brought into court by Deputy Sheriff Russell McBride this morning. He did not exhibit much outward signs of nervousness, but kept his eye on the floor after being seated at a counsel table around which were his father and former Judge J. Norman Martin, and Attorney R. L. Wallace, who represent him. Special District Attorneys George W. Muse and Walter Braham represent the prosecution.

The court room was only partially filled, mostly with jurors and witnesses, during the forenoon.

When the case was called Grimm stood with uplifted hand while Deputy Prothonotary John Edgar read the indictment. At the close he was (Continued On Page Fourteen)

TWO FRIENDS ARE BEING DETAINED

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 10.—Newell Gibson, 24-year-old chemistry instructor at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, died in Hoemopathic hospital here today from a bullet wound suffered in a friendly scuffle over possession of a pistol.

Gibson was fatally wounded at the home of Walter O. Krebs, metallurgy student at the Bureau of Mines. Krebs and E. H. Bane, senior law student at the University of Pittsburgh were released under $250 bail each prior to Gibson's death when the wounded man told detectives the shooting was accidental.

Gibson's death probably will result in the re-arrest of the two men, detectives said.
Krebs told police the pistol was accidentally discharged while he was attempting to wrest it from Gibson. Krebs tried to gain possession of the gun because he feared Gibson did not know it was loaded, he told police.

RESUSCITATION EFFORTS FUTILE

(Special To The News)
ELLWOOD CITY, March 10.—Fumes from a gas heater in the basement of the home of R. C. Steifel of 41 Pittsburgh Circle, resulted in the death of Frank Good, 41, colored gardener, and overcame Regina Schuster, housekeeper, and August Menni of Butler, Pa., a painter, who was working at the Steifel home.

Good went to the basement of the Steifel home about 10 o'clock this morning to light the furnace, which is a combination gas and oil heater. The chimney had been plugged, it was found, and Good is believed, failed to remove the plug, allowing the fumes to come out into the cellar.

Miss Schuster smelled the odor of the escaping gas and started down. (Continued On Page Two) Weeks of careful preparation, of investigations, of rumors and clues and tips, came to fruition today when Irene Schroeder, 21 year old blonde of Wheeling, W. Va., went on trial for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul on December 27th, 1929, in the Lawrence county court house with Judge R. L. Hildebrand presiding.

Not in years has any case come to trial in Lawrence County so thoroughly prepared, and with such a mass of testimony and witnesses called to appear. Never in the history of the county, perhaps, has a criminal case in Lawrence County attracted such widespread interest in the outside world. The "Tragedy Woman," who with her paramour W. Pisula died while being taken to the Uniontown hospital. Waxman, suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries, probably will die.
Leonard Leatu, driver of the car, was arrested and charged with reckless driving. Police said the machine was being driven at a high rate of speed when it left the highway.
All three men were from Monessen.

ONE JUROR IN BOX AS COURT ADJOURNS FOR RECESS AT NOON

Blond Defendant Begins Battle For Life In Lawrence County Court This Morning—Still Rather Defiant But Shows Anxiety As Long Trial Is Started—Prospective Jurors Are Thoroughly Examined—Irene's Relatives Not In Court This Morning.

Irene Schroeder, blond and broad and brazen, stood with uplifted hand this morning in the Lawrence County Court House and in the same firm, defiant tone of voice that marked her previous utterances, pleaded not guilty to the murder of Corporal Brady Paul. She was the same Irene who shot it out with Arizona deputies, the same Irene who "sassed" the governor of Arizona, the same young lady who matched wits with a corps of newspapermen on the long trip from Arizona to New Castle.

Save this difference, The sneering smile with which she faced the officers in the Maricopa jail, and that marked her at the preliminary hearing before Alderman Marshall, was gone and in its place a look that seemed to be the forerunner of worry. A hint of fear perhaps with a very apparent attempt to brazen it out to the end if she could.

Neatly Dressed
The slatternly clothes she wore at the time she was captured in Arizona had been replaced with a neat dress. A black coat covered the dress and was topped by a tight fitting black cloque hat. Black silk hose and black patent leather pumps completed the ensemble.

At 10:05 Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand, who is hearing the case in Court room number one instructed Sheriff Frank N. Johnston to bring in Irene Schroeder and at 10:12 she came in accompanied by the sheriff and his wife. At 10:15 she arose with her counsel, Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, Kedgwin Powell, and Benjamin Jarrett and at their prompting answered the questions propounded by the Clerk of Courts, Ralph M. Campbell.

After reading the charge against her Mr. Campbell asked, "how say you, are you guilty of the manner and form as you stand indicted?"
Firmly, unhesitatingly the Trigger Woman responded, "not guilty."

"How will you be tried," asked Mr. Campbell.
"By God and my country," she responded.

"God send you a safe delivery," said Campbell, quoting the formal wording prescribed by law.

Moves For Other Jurors
Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, one of the defense counsel moved the court to have the first panel of jurors called, instead of the second panel which had been checked. The motion was refused.

The reason for the motion was that the defense apparently took it to mean that the second panel was intended for court room number two. Two panels of sixty each were drawn, one panel of which is being drawn in court room number two.

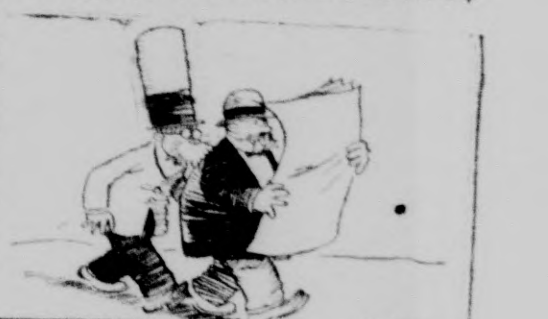

As the motion was refused the examination of jurors was started and at noon, one jurymen had been accepted, Joseph D. Kelley, a farmer of Wayne Township. Nine in all were

There's a charm about the morning when the sun begins to rise, when the rays are being blotted out and aglow daub the skies. There's beauty of a certain kind, but what I mean to say is that I much prefer to be tucked in the well known hay. For if the sun you care to see as he gets out of bed, and if you like that eastern glow, that burns from gold to red, you've got to hike right out m'lad, and hit the well known floor, no nights or nines or hours like that, but think of five or four. And think again of what you've missed, and then with me you'll say, the sun can rise all by himself, it's forty-eight today.

Crowd Watches Irene Enroute From Jail To Court For Trial

As Irene Schroeder was led from the county jail this morning to the court room, where her battle for life and freedom got under way, she presented a far different picture than that recorded when she was brought to the jail on that memorable evening late in January, after her exciting trip from Phoenix, Arizona where she had been captured.

There was no smile on her face as she faced the battery of flashlights lined up along the forty-foot walk from the jail to the rear door of the court house. Nor was there a note of defiance about her. Irene was very humble, her lips were set firmly, and she walked steadily, but her face was extremely pale, even under the make-up, which she had carefully put on for her first appearance in court.

Anxiety In Glance
There seemed to be a note of inquiry in her glance as she gazed back on the crowd which attempted to follow her into the court house, as if seeking for a pitying glance. But there were none. The eyes which were turned upon her were frankly curious searching eyes, which were trying to penetrate that exterior and read her thoughts.

Thirty Dead In South American Train Disaster

Train Runs Wild Down Mountain And Plunges Into Valley

FIFTEEN SUFFER SERIOUS INJURIES

(International News Service)
RIO DE JANEIRO, Mar. 10.—Thirty persons were killed and fifteen suffered serious injuries today when a passenger train descending down a mountain from the summer resort of Theropolis left the rails and dropped more than 500 feet into a valley.

The train was bound for this city from the summer resort which is about two hours journey away and located on top of a mountain about 6,000 feet above the sea.

The passengers, returning to this city after their vacations, were horror-stricken when the train suddenly gained momentum and continued to accelerate on the downgrade until it was running wild at a furious pace.

Survivors stated that the brakes of the train apparently failed to function properly as the cars continued downward, finally leaving the rails at a curve and tumbling pell-mell into a valley.

More 12 year old girls belong to the New Castle Girl Scout organization than girls of any other age, according to the annual report of the Girl Scout director, Miss Nance Pugh.

The average age is 12 and 13 years, 38 members of 13 years, 31 members of 12 years, 25 members of 14 years, 17 members of 10 years, 13 members of 15 years, 7 members of 16 years, 2 members of 17 years and 1 member of 18 years.

bigger game they were after, although there was a flurry among them as the jail doors opened. They hoped that it might be Irene. However, cameras were lowered and they turned to one another resuming the conversation, which had been interrupted a moment previous by the opening of the door.

Irene Steps Out.

Then finally at 10:15 the door to the sheriff's office opened again and Irene stepped out first, a little reluctantly it seemed, followed in turn by Sheriff Frank Johnston and Mrs. Johnston, who had her in her custody; followed by Police Matron Minnie McKibben, Deputy Sheriff Reynolds and other officials.

She was led across the corridor as the flashlight beams, in through the rear door of the court house and up the stairs in the back to the court room.

The crowd seeking to gain an entrance to the trial began assembling as early as 6 o'clock, most of them with lunches under their arms. By 9 o'clock such a crowd was storming the front entrance of the court house that even the mail man was unable to penetrate his way through, and he had to get into the building by another entrance.

Former County Detective William G. Fleming maintained vigil over the front entrance, and after jurors and witnesses had been admitted, approximately 120 people were permitted to enter the court and gain seats in the two court rooms. Those unable to get into the Schroeder trial were forced to content themselves with seats in court room No. 2, where the Grimm trial was started. After all the seats had been filled, the crowd was told that there was no more room and some of them left, while others went around to the rear of the court house to watch Irene being brought in.

Here Constable Tommy O'Brien was on guard and only those with business in the court house were permitted to enter. After Irene had gotten inside some lingered for a few minutes in the hope there might be some further excitement, but the majority fled away.

Irene was neatly dressed for her court appearance. She wore a black coat and trim black turtleneck, and seemed to be carefully groomed for the coming ordeal. She did not even seem to be handcuffed as she walked between Sheriff and Mrs. Johnston. It was plainly evident that she was laboring under a tremendous strain, however, as though she indeed dreaded the ordeal ahead of her.

The only restrictions placed on the welcome is that the visitors respect the owner's rights. The sign asks them not to injure stock or damage the property and when the bell rings to "come to the house and have dinner."

Elmer E. Shaner of Crestview, Slippery Rock, states that the birds recently observed by Mrs. A. B. Cartwright of Craig street, this city, were starlings. He states that they have a head covered with metallic green and purple feathers, with bodies of dark grey. They are spotted with buff or white on the body. Mr. Shaner states that there have been many robins seen at Crestview, and as his communication to The News was being written there were six of them feeding on the lawn.

PROBABLY 125 WITNESSES WILL GIVE TESTIMONY

Glenn Dague, "shot it out" with Arizona deputies, who cares nothing for public opinion, has attracted the attention of a nation, and today her name is being broadcast throughout the land.

About 125 Witnesses

How long the case will take to try is conjectured, but neither the commonwealth or the defense attorneys will admit that it will take less than two weeks. For the commonwealth about 85 witnesses have been summoned to appear and testify. For the defense, about 40 have been called and the probabilities are that it will be close to March 25 before a verdict is had in the case.

The commonwealth counsel seemed satisfied with the preparation of the case. District Attorney John S. Powe would say nothing more than that he felt that the case was ready. In the preparation of the case he has been assisted by Attorney Charles J. Margotti of Piquetteville, Pa., who was appointed special counsel to represent the state. Just as the family of a murdered man have private counsel to aid the prosecution, so did the state want representation at the counsel table and accordingly Charles E. Johnson, secretary of revenue, requested the attorney-general, Cyrus E. Woods to appoint counsel. Mr. Woods appointed Mr. Margotti and his appointment was confirmed by Governor John S. Fisher.

Aided State Before

This is not the first time that Mr. Margotti has aided the state as he was similarly appointed in other cases. Immediately upon being appointed he threw the weight of his entire force into the case and has had his investigators working on the case. With his assistance he has taken headquarters in the Castleton hotel, the rooms being on the sixth floor. The headquarters of the defense counsel are also in The Castleton hotel, Attorney Kedgwin Powell of Youngstown, O., having moved in on Sunday. With Attorney Thomas W. Dickey of this city and Attorney Benjamin Jarrett of Piquetteville, Pa., Mr. Powell will defend Irene and also Glenn Dague. Ex-Judge W. P. Barnum of Youngstown, C., and Attorney Oscar Stephens of Youngstown were in the case until several days ago when pressure of other business forced them to withdraw at least temporarily.

Because Corporal Brady Paul was a state officer, a corporal of the state highway patrol, the enforcement agencies of Pennsylvania are interested in the case. Captain Wilson C. Price, commanding the state highway patrol, Captain P. J. Doer, assistant, are here from Harrisburg to watch the progress of the case. Captain Jacob A. Mauk, commanding Troop D of the state police is here, and with him Lieutenant Thomas Boettner.

Witnesses From West

Several witnesses expected from Phoenix, Arizona, where Irene and Glenn were captured following their flight from New Castle. Sheriff Charles Wright of Maricopa county, who directed the activities of the posse, and several other Phoenix people are on the way east now, to testify before the commonwealth closes its case.

The commonwealth expects to give the jury enough facts to warrant a verdict of first degree murder with the penalty of the electric chair for the Trigger Woman. Not only was Corporal Paul killed on that fateful December day, but Patrolman Ernest Moore was wounded, his gun stolen from him and he was left lying in the roadway dying for all they knew. Despite her "don't care" attitude, and her oft repeated statement that she "didn't care what happened," Irene Schroeder is going to fight for her life bitterly. All of the indifference, the lack of regard for consequences has been forgotten, and she is expected to put up a terrific battle for her life.

What her defense will be is not known.

For several weeks, the Lawrence county court house will be the focal point for public interest not alone in Lawrence county but throughout the state, and nation. The eyes of the country are upon this county and the progress of the trial will be reported by many representatives of daily newspapers and press associations.

Donnie Absent

And while the attorneys battle back and forth in the arena of the court room, with the life of Irene Schroeder at stake, the little four and a half year old boy, Donnie Schroeder, son of Irene, whose childish personality is responsible for the fact that his mother is being tried, will be in the Detention Home, unconscious of the furor he started when on December 31, he chortled, "my mamma shot two cops."

SIMPLE SERVICE FOR FUNERAL OF WILLIAM H. TAFT

governor of both the Philippines and of Cuba, solicitor general—truly a career that could be eulogized. But there will be none.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—The only man in the history of the nation to head two of its three branches of government—the executive and judicial—William Howard Taft, who died Saturday, leaves a remarkable record of public service.

The son of Alphonso Taft, a distinguished American who was secretary of war, attorney-general and minister to Austria and Russia, the late chief justice entered public life at an early age.

Born in Cincinnati September 15, 1857, he attended public schools there, graduated from Yale and took his law degree in the Cincinnati Law School. After being admitted to the Ohio Bar in 1880, he was for a time law reporter of the Cincinnati Times and Cincinnati Commercial. His first public office was that of assistant prosecuting attorney of Hamilton county, a post he held from 1881 to 1883.

He later became assistant county solicitor, judge of the superior court, solicitor-general of the United States, United States circuit judge, dean of law at the University of Cincinnati and entered the realm of national affairs as president of the United States Philippines commission in 1900.

His work on the commission attracting wide attention, and he was named first civil governor of the islands, a post he held from 1901 to 1904. During his long career he retained a deep interest in the Philippines, and affection for its people.

President Roosevelt named him secretary of war in 1904, and during his incumbency the Panama Canal construction was undertaken.

He was selected by President Roosevelt as his successor for the presidency, and was elected on the Republican ticket. He became the republic's 27th president on March 4, 1909.

The dynamic Roosevelt, however, broke with him because he thought Mr. Taft rejected his liberal policies. Among the subjects on controversy was the Roosevelt plan for recall of judges, denounced by Taft.

The break led to the Bull Moose Insurrection in 1912, with Roosevelt opposing his one-time friend for the presidency. In a result Woodrow Wilson defeated Taft for a second term.

Strained relations between Taft and Roosevelt continued for years, but finally were patched up and they became warm friends again.

Out of public life, Mr. Taft became professor of law at Yale. He was president of the national labor board for a year, president of the American Red Cross, American Bar Association, and the League to enforce peace.

He was named chief justice of the United States by President Harding, taking the oath of office June 30, 1921.

A big man physically—weighing well more than 300 pounds in his prime—Mr. Taft was known all over the world for his unflinching good humor. Even while serving as chief justice, he frequently broke the court's spell of solemnity by joking with an attorney.

Despite his joviality, he was an indefatigable worker. Becoming deaf, he insisted on judicial reform, he set out to reduce delays in the supreme court. When he became chief justice the court was far behind in its work, many cases having been pending for four years. When he resigned on February 3, 1930, the court was almost current.

Charge Man Was Beaten By Woman

Pair Arrested By Police As Result Of Several Quarrels

A battle, said to be of three rounds in duration, in which a mere amateur defeat at the hands of an infuriated red headed woman, ended in the city police court Monday morning and both participants are now sojourning in the county jail for a period of ten days, in default of $10 fines.

The participants, Mrs. Sam Lippencott and William Jeffries of Pittsburgh, are vaudeville performers and were engaged in a midnight performance staged in a local theatre early Monday morning.

Following the performance, they went to the Venice Restaurant, where the first round was staged. From there they went to the Liberty Hotel, where the second round occurred and the final round was staged at the B. & O. station in the Seventh ward as they and the husband of the woman and the wife of the man, awaited the arrival of the 6:10 passenger train for Pittsburgh.

The woman, a professional bag puncher, used her knowledge to the fullest extent in the final round and had scored a technical knockout over her larger and male opponent, when Officers Lockard and Dukes arrived. They and the husband of the woman were arrested, but the husband was discharged when it appeared that he had only tried to stop the fight.

Menni was affected to a considerable extent by the gas, but succeeded in dragging Good and Miss Schuster into the open air and sounding an alarm.

Taken To Hospital

All three were taken to the Ellwood City hospital, where Miss Schuster and Menni are recovering from the effects of their experience. Efforts to revive Good, however, proved futile, and he was pronounced dead by physicians who worked over him, about 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Legs Broken In Auto Accident

Sharon Machine Hits Boy As He Runs Across East Brook Street

OLIVER B. WIMER ALSO HIT BY AUTO

Dominick Aversa, aged seven, of 399 Duquesne street is confined to the New Castle hospital with both legs broken above the knee and an injury to the head, which it was feared for a time might be a fracture of the skull, as a result of being struck by the automobile of Henry Schumaker, 465 Grant street, Sharon, Pa., Sunday evening on East Brook street.

X-ray pictures taken at the hospital resulted in the discovery that the skull had not been injured, as at first thought. The boy is doing as well as could be expected.

Mr. Schumaker and his family were en route toward this city on East Brook street when in front of 1215 East Brook street the little boy ran from the left hand side of the street in front of another car and then directly in front of the Schumaker car. The machine struck and knocked the boy to the street.

Henry J. Taylor of 712 1/2 South Ray street, driver of another car, picked the boy up and took him to the New Castle hospital, where it was determined that his legs were both broken and his head injured.

Oliver B. Wimer of 712 Erie street, this city, reported to the police Sunday that he was knocked to the pavement and had one knee injured when hit by the bumper of the car of Mrs. Flora M. WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT

DEATH has brought to a peaceful end a career that knows no American parallel, a life of public service to which came honors allotted to few men and responsibilities that would have long ago broken a weaker man. Life was both kind and harsh to William Howard Taft. He lived strenuously and died at peace with all the world.

His was the rare privilege of living to see himself placed by popular acclaim among the small company of great Americans, although there was a time in his crowded, throbbing life when it seemed that his true greatness would never come from behind a cloud of popular misunderstanding born of political chicanery and demagoguery.

Within his 72 years William Howard Taft packed an active, promising youth, a college and law school education completed with honors, a notable legal career—he was an assisting prosecuting attorney within a year after being admitted to the bar—which carried him from the county courts to the exalted office of chief justice of the United States Supreme Court, years of foreign service for his country, and domestic public service the high points of which were his administrations as solicitor general, secretary of war and president of the United States.

Chapters of his life story known to relative few are those relating to his years of teaching in the Yale and Cincinnati Universities and his signal successes as head of President McKinley's Philippines commission and later as governor general in the Philippines, as well as in handling the different situations in Cuba, Porto Rico and Panama in 1906 and 1907. The ultimate success of the Panama Canal project was chiefly due to his reorganization of the work with Col. George W. Goethals in charge.

Party schism and the rise of the "progressive" movement in the Republican party robbed the administration of President Taft of the popular approval it deserved. He and his administration were discredited by Theodore Roosevelt, Senator La Follette and their "progressive" and "insurgent" following because they could not dictate his policies at a time when the conflict between the progressive and conservative elements of the Republican party was at its height, with the progressives in the majority. The dramatic force and magnetism of Roosevelt, who in 1908 had said that Taft was "the standard of absolutely unflinching rectitude on every point of public duty and a literally dauntless courage and willingness to bear responsibility and representative of all that in which I most believe in political life," obscured the achievements of the Taft administration and made his re-election impossible.

His record while in the white house conclusively proves that political malice alone was behind the charge heard in 1912 that President Taft was "too friendly with the reactionary Republicans and big business and a deserter from the progressive policies."

To enumerate only a few of the constructive achievements of his administration, there were reform of the rules of the house of representatives, the corporation tax, extension of the powers of the interstate commerce commission, the postal savings system, the department of labor, the children's bureau, the tariff board, the first federal budgeting, publicity on limitation of campaign expenses, submission of the income tax, direct election of senators amendments and dissolution of the oil and tobacco trusts.

His unpopularity in 1912 was a result of exploitation by his political enemies of his defense of tariff reduction and veto of bills boosting import duties, veto of the bill to grant statehood to New Mexico and Arizona, dismissal of Gifford Pinchot as federal forester and his failure to stretch the executive power in matters of conservation.

By all prevailing standards in Washington the Taft policies came well within the "progressive" classification, and even Mr. Taft, during the tree-cornered fight in 1912, did not class himself as a reactionary. As he put it:

"We middle-of-the-road people, who are not extremists, are the real progressives, because you do not make progress by great strides, you make it step by step."

The twenty-seventh president and tenth chief justice of the supreme court of the United States was liberal enough and independent enough to appoint to the supreme court Edward D. White, a Democrat, and confederate soldier, and to support President Wilson's league covenant when the so-called Republican reactionaries in the senate fought it to its death. And his genius as a public administrator was recognized and recruited by five presidents, including President Wilson.

SILLY SECRECY

Accidents occurring to airplanes engaged in interstate transportation are investigated by the department of commerce for the purpose of fixing the cause and placing the responsibility. It has been the policy of the department to issue only general reports of its findings, the details of the report becoming secret government archives.

This secrecy is the basis of a prolonged debate in congress where one side demands full publicity for the protection of the public and advancement of aviation and the other side takes a nearly opposite view.

Reasons given for this reticence are that the department has only partial authority in such cases, and publication of detailed reports would involve the department in damage suits, the injured parties and carriers calling upon the government agents as expert witnesses.

But is not the public entitled to whatever benefit there may be in the findings of an official and unprejudiced investigation? In accidents involving ships, trains, buses and other common carriers, the public investigation has proved the principal guarantee of the passengers' rights.

This secrecy is doing aviation no good. It destroys public confidence and provokes harmful discussions. If laws are necessary to insure full publicity, then congress should not delay in enacting them and air interests should place nothing in the way of their passage.

Hoover secretaries see in the Coolidge tour the first amendment to that famous saying, "I do not choose to run."

Bury Me In Pink.
World Prayer Day.
Easy To Say, Hard To Do.
To Get Things, Fight.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features
Syn., Inc.)

Woman's interest in dress, strong and deep goes back a million years. She started with a necklace, according to scientists. First an ornament around the neck, then one around the waist, then a skirt and all sorts of things.

A woman in California who murdered a man and killed herself asked to be buried in white satin with yellow roses in her hand. A well known actress in New York jumps from a twentieth story window and makes two requests: first, that she be buried in pink satin; second that her husband keep away from the funeral.

Friday was "World Day of Prayer" among Protestants in all lands. Sixteen hundred cities and towns, some as far as Turkey, Syria, Africa and Japan, joined in the prayer. This time it is not prayer for Russia, but a general prayer for "the redemption of the world."

How far do those prayers travel through the ether before they reach their destination? Are they all heard simultaneously by miraculous power, or received and sorted out according to world redemption theories offered? Some world redemption plans must be far apart—those from Africa and Japan, for instance.

Henry Ford says farmers will solve their problems by "new mass production." Wisely he mentions "machinery, chemistry and education," as the three big factors.

This farmer who raises corn, cow peas, alfalfa, horses and other things can testify that "mass production farming" advice is easier to give than to take. Farmers must do their producing on 20,000,000 farms. Henry Ford couldn't establish mass production in 20,000,000 factories.

Beautiful in sincerity and humility is Gandhi's appeal to the British government: "On bended knees I ask you to ponder this phenomenon," namely the "improvement of India's dumb millions" by Britain.

Gandhi says: "I do not intend to harm a single Englishman." He will only resist passively. Very touching, but not the attitude that gains independence, not the attitude of a people ready for independence.

Britain set a different example before the Hindus after the Sepoy rebellion.

The British put murderous rebels inside of cannon, and blew them to pieces, knowing that religious superstition would make the punishment more horrible.

No rebellion of consequence since then.

The Hindus might learn from the late Emmeline Pankhurst. She wanted votes for women, and SHE FOUGHT ENGLISHMEN.

She attacked them physically, chained herself to the iron railing of the House of Parliament, that the police might not drag her away. When they sent her to prison she starved and would have died, except that shame compelled the British to release her.

On Thursday, the British with Mr. Baldwin presiding, unveiled a statue to Mrs. Pankhurst, close to the spot where she had chained herself to the steel railing. AND BRITISH WOMEN VOTE.

To get what you want, fight for it.

One industry marches on to higher and higher figures. In the cigaret business, prosperity reigns. Everybody always has money to buy cigarets.

When employment is lacking there is leisure to smoke more cigarets and all feel that they must have them, job or no job.

Last year's production was 119,000,000,000 cigarets—almost a thousand cigarets per year for every man, woman and child in the United States.

One thing most important to all business men in connection with the gigantic cigaret industry. Cigarette men are the most AGGRESSIVE ENTERPRISE AND CONTINUOUS ADVERTISERS in the nation.

Money is cheap—Wall Street was correspondingly cheerful. For money to build a house, you had to pay six and sometimes eight per cent.

To speculate in stocks you could borrow money for three and a half per cent.

On soft green fields in the countryside and on the hard sidewalks of Wall Street, a new crop of lambs will soon be skipping. Spring lambs for restaurants, spring lambs for bears.

The Farm Board intends to continue buying wheat, hoping to "push" the price back near the $1.18 loan price.

That has a sad sound for farmers who thought Uncle Sam and the board would arrange to get them at least $2.

The board warns wicked speculators not to take advantage by buying at low prices and selling to their Uncle Sam.

BOLERO JACKET
Paris sends us charming little bolero jacket suits for the young and slender. One in black crepe silk has a blouse of yellow crepe Elizabeth.

Greyhounds are perhaps the oldest known type of dog. Stone carvings dating back to about 4000 B. C. show figures of these graceful animals.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:02. Sun rises tomorrow 6:18.

A yokel is a hick who reads Menckel and gets a nice superior feeling by calling his fellow hicks yokels.

Next Wednesday is March 12th, the Hints and Dints man's birthday. While he is not at home at this time, anybody making the proper claim can collect the five dollars for babies born on that day in Lawrence County. Thus will be following the custom of the last few years.

What's the use? Now that they can't read sub-titles aloud, they laugh at the wrong time so you can't hear the funny part.

You can't carry theories too far, else a free man would have the inalienable right to practice on a cornet.

A RUSTY REMINDER
The easiest way to tell the difference between an investment and a speculation is by the way it turns out.

Tolerance: Granting the other fellow an equal right to indulge in your pet sins.

Some children get parental help in working school problems, and others are above the third grade.

It isn't difficult to be a fashionable doctor. Just prescribe something that won't make imaginary ills any worse.

HORSE-SCOPE
"If the stars incline, star in at night."

According to the stars politicians drawing fat pay checks will continue their practice of hiring village incompetents at small salaries for school bus driving jobs. While this way continues there will be a great increase in the number of railroad engineers that will be taken off to nervous sanitariums.

This should be a fairly lucky wedding day for those folks whose mental make-up enables them to live well on a LOT OF LOVE AND A LITTLE MONEY.

Children born on this day will never want to cross a street once they have been forbidden to do so.

Paul Spikewitch was born on this day and will be remembered as the sailor who never touched hard liquor.

Doctors know everything, except what kills the germs on the countless objects transferred from the floor to baby's mouth.

LONGFELLOW UP TO DATE!
The shades of night were falling fast.

A speeding autoist rushed past. A crash; he died without a sound. They opened up his head and found—

Excelsior!

A critic says the old-timers were more courteous than moderns. Even the old cars rattle before they strike.

HELPFUL
Two of the university's crack golfers sliced their drives into the rough and went in search of the balls. They searched for a long time without success, a kindly old lady watching them with sympathetic interest.

Finally, after the search had lasted half an hour, the dear old lady spoke to them.

"I don't want to bother you, gentlemen," she said, "but would it be cheating if I told you where they are?"

Won't it be awful if the cynic and the yokel discover on Judgment Day that neither one is perfect?

As a last desperate effort to reduce fat, why not invent a perambulating bridge table?

There's nothing in the story that Scotland favors a week of five working days. Think of wearing your Sunday clothes two days a week.

TICKLERS.
Small Fry: "How did you like Venice?"
Big Shot: "I only stayed there a few days. The whole place was flooded."

If you haven't heard a big business man's comment on conditions, you have at least heard a small boy whistle in the dark.

The Naval observatory at Washington, which furnishes the nation with its time, makes a check every night by observations of the stars.

Walter: "Here's your shortcake sir."
Sarcastic Diner: "You call that shortcake? Take it out and berry it."

Sinclair was punished for contempt, and it might be possible to get bootleggers under the pure food and drug act.

AMERICANISM: Howling for a "free" Government appropriation; howling because you are taxed to raise the money the Government appropriates.

We're all alike. Those who ridicule Service are trying to serve by abolishing it.

Tall Man: "What are you so hot about, old man?"
Fat Man: "I have one of these here two-pants suits on me."

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Father of mercies, again we are in a sudden pause; but Thou dost hear and there is no grief but what Thou wilt share. One of us knows now, the end of time and has tasted the deathless life. We lament that his voice is silent. Like a tired child, he was folded in Thy arms and rests in the depths of Thy love. While there are waters of darkness, there is an ocean of light that kisses the shore line of every soul. O breathe tenderly upon the stricken one and fill her soul with the peaceful echoes of Thyself. We thank Thee for that inheritance divine. O let not any ebbing tide leave us in the smothering sands of neglect. Blessed Heavenly Father, listen and keep us under Thy perfect dominion until the very energies of Thy mercy are exhausted and all sorrow and sighing die away before the great white throne. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

For your friends means sacrificing your friendships.
For your religion means sacrificing a religion with power to help.

For your health means sacrificing your health eventually.
For your good name means a sure invitation to disaster.

A BELIEF

Some say we shall not meet again. And scoff at us who dream; If they be right this world of men Has neither plan nor scheme.

If this is all of life to be Then love itself is vain. And every hour of ecstasy Breeds bitterness and pain.

I know not how, nor where, nor when. But to this faith I cling— That after death the soul again Resumes its journeying.

And somewhere in new realms above Life spins a golden cord. Where in eternal peace and love The family is restored. (Copyright, 1930, Edgar A. Guest)

General Satisfaction Felt At Come-Back Of Tardieu

Americans, However, Criticize Political System By Which Domestic Affairs Interfere With International Negotiations

While Americans believe that the return of Andre Tardieu to the post of Premier of France is favorable to the continuance of negotiations at the London naval conference along the lines previously established, there are uncertainties as to France's present attitude. There is also criticism of a political system which permits domestic issues to interfere with an international conference.

"In France," suggests the SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW, "they change ministerial governments as American households change their maids. A maid hops out one day, and maybe her successor hops in that afternoon. But she is given a chance to show her skill. A spirit of fair play prompts the household to eat at least one meal of her concoction before she is dismissed." "In France," says the SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW, "they change ministerial governments as American households change their maids. A maid hops out one day, and maybe her successor hops in that afternoon. But she is given a chance to show her skill. A spirit of fair play prompts the household to eat at least one meal of her concoction before she is dismissed."

"Tardieu made an excellent impression by the decisiveness and force with which he conducted affairs during his comparatively short regime as Premier, and the fact that he will be at the head of the government again is hailed on all sides with expressions of satisfaction," says the ROANOKE TIMES, while the KANSAS CITY TIMES comments: "There can be little doubt that the French have been gratified at M. Tardieu's conduct of the naval negotiations. Deeply humiliated by the place assigned France in 1919, and the Japanese and approximately one-third of the Anglo-American tonnage figures, they regard his demands at London as tending to re-establish their prestige. Moreover the fear of Germany and the desperate quest for 'security' constitute a continuing element in French policy. The government has to have a broad parliamentary backing. May that not mean that M. Briand is to have a freer hand? The question can only be answered by the French delegation at London, but upon that answer may depend whether the conference will produce a five or a 3-power pact."

The conference will be able to resume with the situation substantially as it was when Tardieu left the British capital to return to Paris and to temporary loss of power," states the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, while the OAKLAND TRIBUNE voices the opinion as to the outcome of the conference. "The sentiment in France appears to support a resolute attitude toward arms reduction. At it was not felt Chautemps would dare alter the Tardieu policies, so it may be expected that statesmen, reinstated, will continue the demands which are regarded as obstacles in the way to a fulfillment of the greatest hopes of the conference. After several days of political excitement and uncertainty France is back where it was before Tardieu was thrown out."

The strength of the new cabinet is questioned by the RICHMOND NEWS LEADER, with the suggestion that it may not last long enough to achieve results at the conference. That paper continues: "Except for Briand, no man of outstanding eminence is on the list Tardieu presented to Mr. Doumergue. The war portfolio goes to Andre Maginot, a familiar figure in cabinet shake-ups, and the marine office is entrusted to Dumesnil, from whom neither much of aggression nor much of conciliation may be expected. Raoul Peret, who becomes minister of justice, is a charming gentleman of conciliatory manner, but he will have no part in the negotiations at London. The other members of the new ministry are average administrative politicians. The one surprise of the cabinet is that Mr. Briand has been willing to remain at the foreign office after all the slights to which he has been subjected by Tardieu."

Criticizing the European parliamentary system because of the delay produced at the London conference, the HOUSTON CHRONICLE declares: "Surely the American method of government is responsible just now for great harm to the entire world. We can be justly thankful that we have no such system, and that we bear no such responsibility." "At this distance," remarks the club, statesmen, clergy, editors, mayors, councilmen and even the presidents of Service Clubs may stick out their heads and say "I did it," but if the truth be told, it was the cook who should get the credit. We, a well balanced meal in the pantheon, the brain is not nearly so critical and antagonistic. Therefore, he who provides food for his neighbor is not only brotherly but is also diplomatic. What a man eats and also how he eats is a good indication of character and of the part of the country in which he was reared. To dine in a popular restaurant alone is not to be lonely. Choose a seat commanding a good view of the diners and if you are observing eye you will be entertained beyond your expectations.

Some men will dine off bread and cheese as if they were partaking of an ambrosial feast. Others, with turkey and truffles recall the parable of pearls cast before swine. Fortunately, the chief is in the kitchen and cannot see how his art is abused and not mistaken of with that nice discrimination which proclaims the epicure.

"Mine host." How the heart warms to that title. What memories it brings up out of the past. Recollection of what was eaten it lost but the manner in which you were urged to stay and eat abides as though it was yesterday. The warm glow of hospitality was kindled and the fire of friendship and come meal, come we never again can you feel unfriendly to the man who has invited you to stretch your legs beneath his dining table.

Elbow to elbow, the lively chatter, all partaking from the same dish creates a sacrament binding man to man as does nothing else. I can't explain it. I don't know why it should be so. All I know is that it does and as it was in the beginning so shall it be at the end—if I can feed my enemy he will become my friend, so gather round the board, carve the roast, break the bread and pass the salt.

But who suggested that sugar be put in corn-bread? Let us have more old fashioned cooks and less 'chefs'!

It is estimated that of a world population of nearly 2,000,000,000 about 683,000,000 are Christians; 15,500,000 Jews; 209,000,000 Mohammedans; 150,000,000 Buddhists; 230,000,000 Hindus; and 350,000,000 Confucians and Taoists.

PRAYER:
In strength or weakness may we see Our heavenward path, O Lord through Thee.

Fateful Week In Naval Parley

Will Determine If Five Power
Agreement Is Possible

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
LONDON, Mar. 10.—A fateful week for the London Naval conference, which will determine once and for all whether a five-power agreement is possible, opened here today with continuation of the negotiations which proceeded at a feverish pace over the week-end.

The eighth week of the conference found the British and French attempting to get down to bed-rock consideration of the French tonnage figures, now standing at 725,000 tons. At the same time, the delegates were discussing that political pact which France demands. It was admitted frankly that little progress was made in this matter over the week-end.

After seven weeks of negotiations, sometimes hectic, sometimes dull to the point of boredom, the conference has finally reached the crux of the situation, namely the French demands.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Ambassador Dwight Morrow and Senator Joseph T. Robinson, representing the United States, met the French and British delegates at St. James' palace at 10 o'clock this morning. Their attempts to get down to a detailed discussion of the French tonnage figures temporarily fell flat, the British refusing to accept the French figures of 725,000 tons as revealed by Premier Andre Tardieu a month ago.

Granting (for the argument's sake) that the Russian government sees no benefits in religion, what harm does it consider religion has done, and what does it hope to gain by abolishing it?

The soviet philosophy is that unquestioning belief in an after life makes people indifferent to wrongs they suffer in this one. Besides, the Moscow regime's hostility undoubtedly is against the church rather than religion. The complaint is that many of the clergy, as individuals, are active enemies of the present government. It is denied from Moscow that the others are being persecuted. Russian news, both ways, is so colored by propaganda as to be thoroughly untrustworthy.

What is meant by the Japanese custom of hari-kari?

Hari-kari (correctly "hara-kiri") is suicide by slashing the abdomen. It can only be spoken of as a Japanese custom in that suicide in this form was a definitely established ceremonial in old Japan, where (and at a time when) suicide was considered justifiable, or even necessary, upon certain points of honor. With the modernization of Japan it practically has disappeared.

About what was the cost to the government (and thus to the taxpayers) of the four days of senate debate over the question of Charles Evans Hughes' confirmation as chief justice of the United States?—despite the fact that there was no doubt, any of the time, of his final confirmation.

Ninety-six senators at $10,000 each and one vice president, at $15,000 annually, total $975,000. Deducting 52 Sundays and, say, 13 additional days as more or less legitimate holidays, we arrive at a 300-day year, which, into $975,000, yields a result of $3,250 per day. Miscellaneous attendance amounts to about $50,000 annually—or, to avoid fractions, call it $51,000. An additional $170 daily. Total, $3,420 daily; multiplied by four, $13,680. Some incidental overhead is involved in keeping the Capitol running, but that has to be kept open anyway, for tourist rubenberks. Not so bad, for such a good show!

To what is present unemployment in America attributed? What is its volume?

Unemployment of today is due mainly to the displacement of workers by man-saving machinery, faster than new occupations can absorb them. Temporarily, too, there is a slight slackening in business. The number of unemployed can only be guessed at. A count is to be made, however, during the 1930 census, to start shortly.

Peter's Adventures

FENCE HIGH

Methuselah might be telling the truth and nothing but the truth, but Peter could scarcely believe it. He stared Methuselah up an down.

"You're not a very large fellow," said he at last. "I don't understand how even hundreds of you could stop a railroad train from moving."

Shrill laughter arose from the crowd of insects.

"Hundreds of Cicadas!" Drazan Fly's voice was heard above the rest. Let me tell you something, boy. There are so many Cicadas in a tribe that as far as I've ever heard not yet has anyone been able to count them. I doubt if even the Cicadas themselves have any idea of the number of their aunts and cousins they have."

"That's right," announced Methuselah solemnly. "It would be quite a nuisance to try to get acquainted with all of them. Too many relatives is a misfortune. I say, Listen boy. Once upon a time, so my grandfather said, he went roaming with the rest of the Cicadas and they grew weary and stopped to rest by an old wood fence. And there were so many of them that, one on top of the other, they reached over the top of the fence rail. Whew! It must have been uncomfortable for the poor fellows on the bottom."

"Are you good natured, Methuselah?" demanded Peter suddenly and the Cicada looked astonished.

"Most of the time, certainly," said he. "But there come times when we get restless."

"Then look out for the Cicadas," shrilled Drazan-Fly. "They go on a rampage and eat up all the grass and crops and crush any insects in their path. One Cicada is pleasant to meet. A crowd of them are dangerous. Beware then."

OH, THESE WOMEN!

BY LEOLA ALLARD

Just how would a man get along with a brunette, who is "independent and reserved?"

The question comes from Waco, Texas, and the man says, because I'm a woman I ought to know. He isn't making the grade with the brunette in whom he is interested. What to do?

"Women are an interesting study," sezze, "sometimes a little too interesting. I think temperament has much to do with actions, so I ask you for a general character sketch of this type."

Women are all different and to speculate on what one of them is going to do is like guessing which way a flea will jump.

Prescriptions differ. Some men say that the way to get any woman to trip on your chalk line is to assert yourself, and hold your ground. But many women, if you tried that, would walk out on you. You can't start treating a pampered darling rough, and make her like it. If you treat any of them too well, they put a halter on you.

Brunettes are always more independent than blondes. They are not so soft, and pliable and smiley and caddy. That is why men usually prefer them. A man likes to know what his woman is thinking, how her mind works, what she likes, and what he can expect of her. It makes for a more comfortable marriage. He wants to be the Big Somebody in his home. He is fearful of an independent and an intellect that is so superior he is outside its circle.

Brunettes have a heavier nature. They enjoy being looked up to, feared and respected, as against the blonde idea of being adored. A BRUNETTE WANTS YOU AT HER FEET AND A BLONDE WANTS YOU IN HER ARMS. The choice is easy—to most men.

I'm afraid you have to be a little rough with the brunette, Waco, and give her a dash of her own independence. Let her do the chasing. They do that better than blondes.

(If any brunette wants to set me right, address Universal Service, 63 Park Row.)

House Committee Considering New Enforcement Plan

Would Let Uncle Sam Look After "Big Ones" And States Take Care Of Minor Violators

PLAN PUT FORTH BY DRY FORCES

By WILLIAM S. NEAL, International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, March 10.—Radical revision of prohibition enforcement, with Uncle Sam tracking down the "big ones" and the states going after the little violators, will be considered by the house judiciary subcommittee as a substitute for the Wickersham commission's "juryless trial program," it was announced today by Rep. Christopherson (R) of South Dakota, subcommittee chairman.

The plan has been put forward by many dries as a means of ending the "buck passing" between federal and state authorities and reducing congestion in the federal courts.

Consider Proposals

With opposition apparently growing to the Wickersham commission's plan of permitting U. S. court commissioners to hear prohibition cases without jury trials, although giving the accused the right to demand jury trial later in federal court, the judiciary subcommittee will also consider other proposed substitutes.

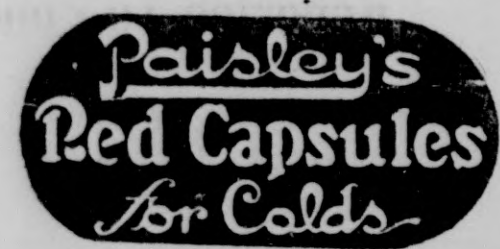

"I have had a great many suggestions and will call a meeting this week to lay them before the subcommittee," said Christopherson, who is in charge of the legislation proposing reorganization of federal courts to speed prohibition enforcement.

"Among these is a suggestion that legislation be enacted clearly defining the line of enforcement between the states and the federal government. The eighteenth amendment confers concurrent jurisdiction and enforcement is now left to both federal and state courts.

Visits Hoover's Virginia Mountain School

By Central Press Writer
RAPIDAN, Va., March 7. — No entrance exam worried the 23 nice-looking youngsters from six to sixteen years old who compose the student body of the Hoover Community School, given by the President to young neighbors of the famous Summer camp on the Rapidan River, near here.

Going through a typical day's session with the class, few members of which ever before had been inside a schoolroom, gives the best possible reasons why the usual formality was omitted both for the regular scholars and myself, who was a student for a day.

In the first place, when the school was dedicated February 24, and the class organized, it was found that none of the children had the same degree of learning. Most of them more than ten years old learned to read and write from their parents or their older brothers and sisters.

Bright, Attractive Children

Far from being unlettered hillbillies, as some newspaper reports would indicate, it was found these children to be bright and attractive. But the consequence of living many miles from the nearest public school, in a country where United States Marines are building the first automobile road, is simply just no school. What education is present has been supplied by members of the families, or was gained before the family moved to the mountains.

The Bell Tolls
Sharp at half past eight o'clock

every weekday morning, except Saturday, Miss Christene Vest, the Kentucky mountain girl teacher, rings a hand bell to call her charges. Ray Barker, the little fellow who sold President Hoover the famous possum and subsequently interested him in the whole group of mountain children, then has the task of raising the national flag to the top of the school flag staff.

All gathered inside, the teacher reads a simple story and they sing a song which some of the pupils already knew. A tall, sand-haired boy, Ray's cousin, Bealy Barker, from over the mountain, arrived at this time the morning I was present, and was assigned a desk immediately. He is sixteen and has the mountain dignity in full measure. School, I felt, is a serious opportunity for him.

Miss Vest now reads from a book of children's verse, and several of her scholars read short poems from the same volume. Then comes spelling. Cat and rat are carefully rendered by the less experienced, while longer words are met and conquered by those with some previous schooling, or who have already been grounded in the fundamentals by their parents.

By this time it is eleven o'clock, and the noon recess for lunch starts. The children living nearby, like Ray and the five of his seven brothers and sisters who attend, go home for lunch. The others eat from lunch boxes, or great handkerchiefs which first serve as the lunch wrapper and then as the combined tablecloth and napkin.

Seek Children's Confidence

As part of the goal of getting completely acquainted, she asks, after the arithmetic is over for the day, what the children like and know, and to tell something about themselves. They answer and hurry to queries about books and the proper way to write letters, though to whom the letters are to go remains a mystery.

Then it is half past two o'clock, and the second play recess of the day, the first having been at ten o'clock in the morning. This particular day is so warm that they wear their classroom clothes outside. A real playground is to be ready shortly, but in the meantime the bare ground suffices for some of these age-old games which are still popular everywhere, even in cities. Drop the handkerchief, prisoner's base, "tag" and complicated forms of all three make the half hour short.

The Bell Tolls Again

Eva May Barker (called "Did") now takes her turn with the hand bell to call the others in for the three o'clock posture and language work. A few more brief stories and talk and at half past three school is out. Ray importantly hauls down the flag.

The schoolhouse is a snug building, solidly constructed about a mile above the Hoover camp on the sloping side of the mountain. The Barker house is within a hundred yards while several other houses, some vacant, dot the slope. The school building is a glorious view of the surrounding country for miles.

Half of the structure is given over to the large schoolroom. The other half, on the ground floor, is the teacher's room, apartment, living room, bedroom, bath and kitchenette. The one room on the second floor, the attic, is used by Rida Barker, 15 years old, another sister of Ray, who acts as Miss Vest's companion.

I was the first visitor after the opening day, when the children were so surrounded by reporters that no real work could be done, only the motions being gone through. They showed great interest in the first outsider to share a school day and all vied a friendly good-bye as Ray lowered the flag, they started for their homes, and I left the Hoover Community school with a unique, unforgettable memory.

Dr. Cook Given Release Today

Dr. Frederick Cook, Alleged Discoverer Of North Pole Is Paroled From Prison

WILL STUDY IN HOME OF FRIEND

By RICHARD C. WILSON, International News Service Staff Correspondent
KANSAS CITY, March 10. — With only $60 in his pockets, Dr. Frederick A. Cook, once feted by the world as discoverer of the North Pole, began life anew today.

The man who claims to the discovery of the North Pole in 1908 were branded as fraudulent emerged from Leavenworth federal prison where, for the past five years he has been prisoner No. 23118, late yesterday. He was paroled from the 14 years and nine months sentence assessed him in April, 1925, following his conviction on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with an alleged fraudulent Texas oil scheme.

Greeted By Reporters

Dr. Cook was greeted only by newspapermen as he left prison. His wife divorced him in 1923 about the time he was arrested in the government's investigation into Texas oil swindles. The present whereabouts of his wife and two daughters is not known.

For an hour after he walked slowly down the long flight of steps from the towering gray prison to liberty Dr. Cook answered the questions of newspapermen. Then he motored to Kansas City, Dined, and boarded a 9 p. m. train for Chicago.

In Chicago the 65 year old explorer will work and study with Dr. P. F. Thompson, a lifelong friend. During the period of his parole, which expires in 1935, Dr. Cook will be accountable to Dr. Thompson.

Plunges to Death

Marital troubles are believed to have been the cause of the death plunge of Mrs. Enos S. Booth, former actress, from the twentieth story of a fashionable New York hotel. Estranged from her husband, the noted attorney, she requested him to remain away from her funeral in a letter found in her room.

Six Killed When Train Hits Auto

Six Killed, Three Married Couples, When Speeding Train Hits Automobile

ACCIDENT OCCURS NEAR LANCASTER, PA.

(International News Service)
LANCASTER, Pa., Mar. 10.—Six persons, three married couples, were killed instantly last night when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a fast Pennsylvania passenger train at a grade crossing in Florin, near here.

The dead have been identified as Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Holden, Mr. and Mrs. George Fry and Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, all of this city.

No eye witnesses of the accident, one of the worst grade crossing tragedies in the history of the state, have been found.

The men and women had spent the day visiting with Evans Carpenter, in Florin. They left about 9 o'clock last night, he said, and a few minutes later their bodies were strewn along the right of way of the railroad and their automobile was reduced to splinters.

Two Detained In Pay Car Robbery Which Killed Four

(International News Service)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., March 10.—John "Rex" Natus of Curry Hill, Plymouth township, and Sigismund "Big Joe" Szachewicz, of Wilkes-Barre, were charged here today for the four murders resulting from the dynamiting of the Alden Coal Company pay car hold-up at Warrior Run on January 13, last.

The two men are the only ones implicated, according to Captain William Clark of the state police. Just before he took the men into county court the captain said that the others held in connection with the atrocity will be released.

The authorities said that their conclusion was based on weeks of intensive research in the case, complicated by the cleverness of the plan adopted by the implicated men to cover the clues pointing to them as the perpetrators of the deed.

SLEEVES SEEN ON VIRTUALLY ALL NEW FROCKS

By ALICE LANGELLIER, International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, March 10.—Sleeves are conspicuous for their prominence or complete absence on new spring and summer frocks and costumes. Nearly all of the daytime frocks have them and practically every evening one is without them.

Some of the couturiers are featuring sleeves in all their old glory. Old-fashioned mousquetaire sleeves have reappeared and are to be seen on good old-fashioned style.

The bishop sleeve has also come back in differing width from elbow to wrist. Puffs appear at the elbow on lace frocks and several of the dressmakers are showing cunning little puffs just covering the upper arm, a very flattering fashion.

Sarah Bernhardt sleeves are seen on a number of low-necked frocks, very long and tight, extending down over the hand or with a frill of lace or the material, as the great actress used to wear them. Lace wristlets come in deep blue and black frocks matching the lace at the neck in good old-fashioned style.

Some of the new sleeves tend to fullness below the elbow but generally tighten about the wrist. Pin tucks, applied bands or incrustations accentuate new sleeve lines. Maggy Rouff is making charming.

PLANS TO FIGHT UTILITY COMPANIES

Secretary James J. Davis Is Expected To Announce

By LEO DOLAN

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—Pennsylvania political spotlight shifted to this city today as jubilant followers of former Governor Gifford Pinchot began the work of organizing headquarters here to carry on the fight to again place Pinchot in the gubernatorial post.

"I am a candidate for governor in the coming Republican primary. I want to help break the stranglehold of the electric, gas, water, trolley, bus and other monopolies on the cost of living and the government of this state."

Hat In Ring
With the unloosing of this barrage, Pinchot definitely settled rumors and counter rumors concerning his candidacy and tossed his hat into the ring as an independent candidate for the governorship.

Stephen Stahlacker, private secretary during the Pinchot administration, will be in charge of Pinchot's campaign. Headquarters for the Pinchot organization will be in this city.

Pinchot's announcement came as the first broadside fired in the near-by political wars. It was expected to hasten the announcement by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis that the cabinet officer will be a candidate for the United States senate seat now held by Joseph R. "Uncle Joe" Grundy.

Secretary Davis visited his father at Sharon over the week end but the expected statement that he would run for the senate failed to materialize. The announcement, it is now believed, will be made in Pittsburgh, Secretary Davis' legal residence.

PENAL GUARDS NOW GO TO SCHOOL

Candidates drawn from the regular civil service lists for positions as prison guards no longer are to be sent to federal penal institutions without preliminary training. At a school in New York, the first of its kind, the men will be taught such subjects as the nature and history of criminal law, objects of a modern prison, methods of identification, ballistics, jiu-jitsu, physical culture, first aid and an introduction to hygiene and psychiatry. They also will learn prison management and the duties of officers and guards. Jessie C. Stutsman, inset, a veteran prison executive, has been designated by the department of justice to head the school, and is working with the co-operation of the New York police department. Top, Sergeant J. M. Evans, pistol instructor, is showing the men how to handle that weapon. Below, Sergeant F. H. Weber is demonstrating the art of jiu-jitsu.

"Secret Six" Starts War On Chicago Underworld

By PIERRE JOHN HUSS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

CHICAGO, Mar. 10.—With 250 murders charged to Chicago's hoodlum world since it chalked up its first killing in September, of 1923, and more in prospect, citizens, the underworld, and the world at large are awaiting with keen interest the effects of a much heralded million-dollar onslaught on crime here by business and industrial leaders headed by the "Secret Six," an executive committee appointed by the Chicago Association of Commerce to organize and carry out its campaign against crime.

The purpose of the drive is three-fold:

First, to oust gangsters, extortioners, blackmailers and politicians "in cahoots" with them from their allied strongholds.

Second, to make crime unprofitable either to the criminals or to those who might be "protecting" them from the "inside."

Third, to counteract the popular impression that Chicago is the world's "toughest" town.

The crime war committee's plan, fundamentally, is not designed along the lines of stampeding all suspicious looking characters out of the city. The steam-rolling method has been left to the police, who have resorted to it widely in the last few weeks with the expected results—a "showup" parade of 5,000 suspicious persons and the clogging of courts with cases of minor police characters. The "Secret Six," however, intends to divide the city into its "badland" sections, place an investigating committee in charge of each district, and secure information not only on criminals in that section, but also of the status and character of policemen, politicians, judges, lawyers and "moneymen" powers. On the basis of this data, it hopes to sweep into the hands of the law not only the current criminals and gangsters, but also the "big shots."

Nor will the men entrusted with this task be faced with the necessity of invading virgin territory. In their portfolios will reside a regular "Who's Who" in gangland, with the names, aliases, residences, records, probable connections and territorial control of the outstanding gangland lords neatly classified.

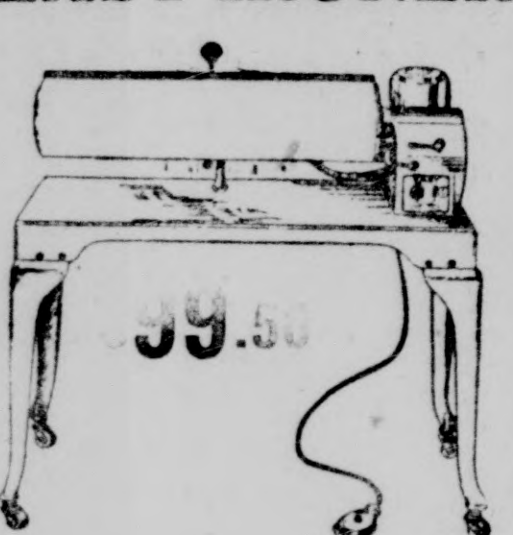

It will map the northside, where George "Bugs" Moran, Ted Newberry and the Aiellos are ruthless dictators; also the northwest side, with its Al Wines, Marty Guilfoyles, Matt Kalbs and other gang rulers; the south side, lorded over by the Danny Stantons, Joe Saltises, Frank McElranes, Quinland, McGovern, O'Donnells and Sheldons; the west side, with its "Red" Boltons, "Klondike" O'Donnells, Druggans and Lakes, its "Butch" Cooks and McFaddens and McGurns.

Volant Man Is Reported Missing

Search Is Under Way For Some Trace Of Hiram
Collins

NOT SEEN SINCE
SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Hiram Collins, aged about 55, well known farmer of Volant district, residing just west of Volant on the road to New Wilmington, has been missing from his home since about 1:30 o'clock Sunday, when he started out for a walk with his dog, and from which he has not returned.

The dog returned home about three o'clock but nothing much was thought of the matter until later in the day, when Mr. Collins failed to return home to do his regular work about the farm.

The hunt for the missing man was started and has been in progress ever since and without success up until the time of going to press.

No reason is known for his disappearance, other than possible poor health conditions from which he has been suffering for some time.

This morning, grappling hooks were borrowed from the New Castle police department and have been used all morning in searching the waters of the Neshannock Creek near Volant, where the water was quite deep and where it was feared that Mr. Collins might have gotten into the water.

This had resulted in nothing being found at noon today.

At that time a new clue was discovered and work on tracing it up has been started. This clue was to the effect that a man, answering the description of Mr. Collins had boarded an afternoon train at Wilmington Junction. This train was bound for New Castle.

The search for the missing man was being continued with renewed vigor this afternoon.

Former Local Man Is Shot

Arthur Lewis Is Dead As Result Of Being Shot
At Wireton

ASSAILANT HELD
BY STATE POLICE

Press dispatches from Wireton, Pa., convey the news of the shooting of Arthur Lewis, aged 20, New Sheffield, Pa., which ended in his death in the Sewickley Valley hospital, Saturday, by Charles McKay, aged 41, of Wireton. According to the dispatches, the shooting occurred as a result of an alleged "Eternal Triangle" in which Lewis is said to have been the intimate friend of Mrs. Edna May McKay, wife of the assailant of Lewis.

It develops that Arthur Lewis until two years ago, when he went to his last location to work, was a resident of this city, his home being at 210 Smithfield street, this city. The body has been removed to the home of his relatives on Smithfield street.

According to the story from Wireton, Pa., McKay returned home from his work at the Jones and Laughlin plant at Allegheny and found a taxicab waiting at his home. As he entered, Lewis alleged to have been an intimate friend of Mrs. McKay for months past, left the house.

An argument, followed by a fist fight lasting several minutes occurred, then McKay headed for the cellar, apparently to get a gun, while Lewis rushed out the back door and across an open field instead of taking the taxicab.

McKay returned to the kitchen with his rifle and in spite of the entreaties of his wife and thirteen-year-old daughter, Leora, fired from the open door. The first shot was wild but the second shot dropped Lewis.

Mrs. McKay went to the aid of Lewis, helped him to the taxicab and took him to the Allegheny police station, where first aid was rendered. She then took him to the Sewickley Valley hospital, where he died shortly afterward.

State troopers arrested McKay at his home and he is being held in the Allegheny county jail pending a further investigation. Mrs. McKay is also held there as a material witness. The daughter is at the home in Wireton.

Hanging Of Woman Starts Drive Against Death Penalty

By RALPH ROLLINS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 10.—The hanging of Eva Duggan, first woman to die by legal process in Arizona, is threatening the entire structure of the State's penal system with a deluge of public protest.

Richard Burrows, 17 year old Chicago youth, who killed a traveling salesman who plied him with liquor, appeared likely to escape the gallows because the furor against hanging was diverted his way.

Mrs. Duggan was hanged for the murder of her rancher employer A. J. Mathis. The rope cut her head from her body as she dropped through the gallows trap.

The direct moves to change the Arizona penal system struck at capital punishment and at the present Parole and Pardon board last week.

Arizona has hanged its malefactors from the days when local vigilance committees strung up horse thieves, except for two years of abolition early in statehood, nearly 18 years ago.

Attorney Henderson Stockton prominent political leader, headed the move for revision of the hanging law, either by abolition of capital punishment or substitution of lethal gas.

Prominent club women joined the move.

Demand was made for a new parole law, limiting the number who can initiate death commutation appeals to the parole board to relatives of the condemned person.

Another proposed change in the law would permit a condemned person to file an original suit in the Supreme Court to determine whether circumstances of the case justified death or life imprisonment.

At present the murder jury is in sole control of the penalty although the judge can reduce death to life imprisonment, after a verdict of hanging.

It Is Sap Time Where There Are Maple Trees

With a gentle rhythmic drip, sap is steadily filling hundreds of pails hooked to maple trees, on Lawrence county farms.

It is sap time and the farmers are busy boiling the sap and making maple syrup and maple sugar. When we soak our pancakes and waffles with maple syrup, few people think of the process the sap undergoes before it is ready for the jug on the breakfast table.

A hole is made in the tree and a pail is set beneath to catch the flowing sap. On large trees, several holes are sometimes drilled.

On the North hill there can be seen maple trees, with pails catching the dripping sap. The trees are often out in front of the homes. Every tree contains about 10 gallons of sap.

On farms where there is a large grove of maple trees, "stone boats" makes the round of the farm at intervals and the sap is dumped into a large kettle or urn. Later the contents of this kettle is boiled and presto—the products are maple sugar, and maple syrup.

On farms where there are but few trees, the sap is collected and several farmers put their sap in one kettle to boil. Before the sap is turned into syrup it must be boiled and tested.

When it has been boiled and tested it finally finds its way to the table jug and from thence onto pancakes and into the stomach.

Chamberlin Shows New Plane Stunt

NEW YORK, March 10.—Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flyer, in a plane with a "dead" motor, today outdid a parachute jumper in coming safely to earth.

At 1,500 feet, Fred Cole, parachute jumper, left the plane and Chamberlin cut his motor. The demonstration was to prove that the plane could stay in the air longer than the parachute jumper. Cole came to earth in 57½ seconds. Chamberlin made a half circle and landed in two minutes. The plane rolled but 120 feet. Chamberlin cited this as proof that a crippled plane could be landed, in an emergency, on a small area.

BUSINESS WOMEN ATTEND CHURCH

New Castle Club Goes In Body
To Services At Central Church

As the opening event of National Business Women's Week which is being observed March 10-16 by 1100 Business and Professional Women's Clubs in this country, fifty members of the local Business and Professional Women's Clubs attended services on Sunday evening at the Central Presbyterian church.

Dr. C. B. Wingerd, the pastor, delivered a very interesting and appropriate sermon on the subject "A Woman of Public Spirit."

Dr. Wingerd portrayed Deborah as the first progressive public spirited woman in history, a woman in the public eye, interested in the affairs and welfare of her people yet a home maker and a home lover. Deborah's story may be found in the Book of Judges chapters 4-5.

During the service Mrs. C. W. Van Nort rendered a beautiful solo, and the chorus choir contributed an anthem.

To some theatre interests this is a heart-warming clamor. It means economy for them, hence greater profits.

To persons of sound musical taste, it is ludicrous and impudent—an affront to the intelligence and taste of the theatre-going public. They see in the talkies no excuse for resort to Canned Music.

Man And Wife Being Held In "Love" Tragedy

Husband Returns Home From Work, Finds Man Leaving Home, Kills
Him

SHOOTING OCCURS
AT WIRETON, PA.

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 10.—Charles McKay, 36, and his wife, Mrs. Edna May McKay of Wireton, near here were being held in the Allegheny county jail here today while authorities investigated the fatal shooting of Arthur Lewis, 31, of New Sheffield. McKay is said by detectives to have shot Lewis; his wife is being held as a material witness.

Lewis was shot Saturday afternoon shortly after the enraged husband saw him leaving the McKay home. A fist fight resulted when the two men met outside the home, detectives said. Lewis escaped out a rear door when McKay went to the cellar of the home apparently to get a gun, and was shot as he ran across an open field.

Mrs. McKay assisted her wounded friend in a taxi and took him to the Ambulance police station where he was given first aid. Lewis, however, died several hours later in the Valley hospital, Sewickley.

Another witness to the shooting, Leora, 13-year-old daughter of the McKays, was not detained. Mrs. Mary Ellis May, mother of the woman held, was ill in bed at the time of the shooting, detectives said.

Death Of Ex-President Taft Causes Delay In Trial Of Edward L. Doheny

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, March 10.—Death added another delay today to the long list of delays in the litigation growing out of the oil scandals of the Harding administration.

After a conference of attorneys and court officials today it was decided, because of former President Taft's death and funeral tomorrow, the trial of Edward L. Doheny, millionaire oil magnate, on a charge of bribing Secretary of the Interior, Albert B. Seale, in connection with the Elk Hills leases, should be postponed until Wednesday.

The postponement was mutually agreeable to both sides.

10-Year-Old Girl Shot By Playmate

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 10.—Betty Umberger, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Umberger of 514 Glenwood avenue, was instantly killed when she was shot through the heart by Harry Harvey, aged 12 years, a playmate. The children were playing in the basement of a neighbor's home when the Harvey boy picked up a rifle used during the recent hunting season. Not suspecting that the weapon was loaded he aimed it at his little playmate and pulled the trigger. The Umberger child died instantly, the bullet piercing her heart.

Sanford Funeral This Afternoon

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—The body of Associate Justice Edward Terry Sanford, who died suddenly Saturday, was enroute to Knoxville, Tenn., today where funeral services are to be held this afternoon.

Help The Sick, Frail, Puny Child

Your doctor prescribes Cod Liver Oil for your frail, backward, listless boy or girl because it contains Vitamins A and D.

Without these health-building Vitamins, the bad tasting oil that children hate to take would be useless.

And now, Mother, when you are absolutely sure of getting these magical Vitamins in the new and improved McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets, we know that you won't torture them with obnoxious liquid Cod Liver Oil any more.

For the able chemists in McCoy's Laboratory are extracting these precious vitamins from pure, Norwegian, Vitamin-tested Cod Liver Oil and putting them in sugar-coated tablets that children love to take.

Two of these tablets are equal to one teaspoonful of pure Cod Liver Oil. We would not be allowed to make this statement if it was not true. McCoy's Tablets can be taken winter and summer and for every ailment, sickness, rundown or underweight condition for which Cod Liver Oil is prescribed. McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equally as good.

And that means for grown-ups as well as children. No drugs—Vitamins only. 60 tablets, 60c at any drugstore in America.

THESE ARE GREAT DAYS FOR FURNITURE BARGAIN HUNTERS—

During the past three months many furniture manufacturers, just like manufacturers in other lines, found themselves in urgent need of CASH.

It is a matter of record in the trade that many factories—and notably several well-known ones—sold their surplus stocks to retailers at 50 cents on the dollar. Many others gave a third off for cash.

We have been able to pick up some of these "distressed stocks". They are now on our floors, priced on the basis of what we paid for them.

We say, therefore, these are great days for furniture bargain hunters. If you will shop around, compare prices and quality, you will be able to pick up some rare bargains.

Here is a small list of some values that are exceptional. If there is something in this list that you need, you can save some real money. Same credit terms as on regular-priced stocks.

LOU TELLEGEN FINALLY WEDS EVE CASANOVA

ASBURY PARK, N. J., March 10.—One of the great lovers on the stage and screen of ten years or so ago, Lou Tellegen, one-time Broadway protegee, was married here Sunday to Eve Casanova, actress, who has played opposite him on vaudeville circuits for the last two seasons.

Judge Martin L. Ferris performed the ceremony in the presence of Desiree-Tabor, Schubert prima donna, and Rafael Diaz, Metropolitan opera tenor.

It was Lou Tellegen's fourth venture into real life matrimony. In turn, his previous brides were Countess Jeanne de Brouchere, Geraldine Farra, opera star, and Nina Romano, movie actress.

For long the couple had planned marriage but both were bothered with previous nuptial ties.

Last Spring Miss Casanova won her freedom from Minor McLain, actor. Last fall Nina Romano had made divorce arrangements which freed Tellegen.

Then the actor, smoking in bed in an Atlantic City hotel, caused a fire and his serious burns occasioned further delay.

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—Asas Keyes, former district attorney, who leaves for San Quentin Tuesday to start serving a sentence of from one to fourteen years for bribery, has definitely abandoned pleas for an appeal to the United States Supreme Court, at least until after he becomes an inmate of the state prison.

The former official, who served Los Angeles County 25 years as a prosecutor, decided against a Supreme Court appeal because he is without funds and at San Quentin his time will count against his term. He has been in jail months pending the appeal.

Keyes again yesterday declared he has no fear of entering the state penitentiary. Rumors that many of the 1,000 or more convicts now there,

Recalls Day When Three Feet Of Snow Fell Here

You all remember how the present March opened with an unusually heavy fall of snow. Strange as it may seem, that is not a tale of March weather. It's a winter story that was recalled by the snow that fell on the first of this March.

"Do you know," said Joe Noss of the North Highland Extension, better known as Coalton, "that this fall of snow reminded me of what the people nowadays call the changing weather conditions."

"A few inches of snow, nowadays," continued Joe "seems about our limit, but I can remember one occasion, at least, when there was three feet of snow on Washington street and in fact all over New Castle."

"It was in the winter of 1887. I was an apprentice glass blower in the old Union Glass House on West Washington street, across from the present Pennsylvania Railroad station."

"My home was on Quest street. I remember the occasion very distinctly. When we went to bed on a certain Friday night, the snow was falling and when I looked out the next morning, the snow was packed up to the window ledges, which were about three feet from the ground."

"I had gotten up early to be at work in good time. It was six o'clock and when I started out the snow took me above the waist. On reaching Washington street, there was not a soul in sight. I was the first person to make the effort to get through the heavy fall of snow, and I want to tell you it was some job making the first path through that snow, which as I said took me above the waist."

"When I finally reached the glass house, I was a lather of perspiration and felt warmer and more exhausted than after a hard day's work in the hottest part of the summer."

"That was the deepest snow I ever saw here."

NEW CASTLE RAMBLERS
Long Beach, Cal.
March 4, 1930.

Editor New Castle News.

The New Castle Ramblers club of southern California rambled, "and how." This club was organized in April, 1928, at a house party given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Williamson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McCray of 1481 Wallace avenue, Los Angeles. It was organized for the purpose of getting together and having outings now and again, to foster good-fellowship, harmony and happiness among former residents of good old New Castle. Our motto is "There is much good in the worst of us, and much bad in the best of us. It'll become any of us to speak ill or slight the rest of us." And our slogan is "Come to California, the land where the spring comes in the summer, the summer comes in the fall, the fall comes in the winter and winter don't come at all."

For the enlightenment of the friends back home I will give the names of the charter members of the club as they are recorded in the secretaries' album: Mr. and Mrs. Ike Williamson, 60 Line avenue, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson, 318 W. Miamar-street, Hawthorn, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waddington, 7718 Denker avenue, Los Angeles; Bob Black, 7718 Denker avenue, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Davis, 924 W. 78th street, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Patterson, 301 Buckhorn street, Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Mitchell, 1356 Stanley avenue, Long Beach; Mrs. Julia Mitte, 1481 Wallace avenue, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. John Cline, 326 Jefferson avenue, Hawthorne, Cal.; Mrs. Rachel Hamilton, 1628 Laurel street, South Pasadena, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McCray, 1481 Wallace avenue, Los Angeles, Cal.

The club now has a membership of 75 and is still growing. The club held a basket lunch picnic on March 2 in Exposition park and there were 104 in attendance. The sun being obscured by a high fog, made the day an ideal one for an outing.

There were quite a few of the new arrivals and some who are permanently located out here who did not arrive in time for lunch, but they seemed to enjoy the occasion just the same. When the feast was laid, in the neighborhood of 75 gathered at the board and as usual all stood while we sang "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

After the Amen, we sat down to as fine a repast as I was ever fortunate enough to take part in. After we filled up on the good things set before us we all grouped together for a picture and then we all joined in making merry and having a social good time.

Many of the folks met for the first time in 30 years or more. They came from far and near, most every district being represented. Yes, the Hints and Dints man was there, also his charming wife, and if anyone enjoyed meeting old acquaintances more than they did, I didn't observe them. Both Mr. and Mrs. Rentz were quite busy taking pictures of their friends, who had gathered at this outing, and I am sure they will have quite a few for development for their friends were many.

Mr. Rentz had his usual amount of funny stories to tell, and he told them in his own humorous way, which brought out much laughter and comment on his originality, while Mrs. Rentz circulated among the lady folks in her pleasing manner, talking of the present and bygone days. William Clark of Seattle, Wash., was in attendance and met many of his old friends. He left New Castle in 1889

FEW ARE FAT IN THESE DAYS

THERE'S A REASON

Have you noted how few people are now-over-fat, as compared with years ago? Slender figures are the vogue. And they have brought to millions new youth and beauty, new health and vigor.

Look about you in any crowd, and you will realize that some new factor has been found. People are not starving to reduce. They are combating the cause of obesity, which usually lies in an under-active gland. Modern science has discovered the remedy, and physicians the world over now employ it.

A famous medical laboratory embodies the method in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. So countless people now reduce in this right and easy way.

and he met friends that he had not seen since that time. He will be remembered as a clothing clerk in the store of Tom Travers.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Orr also attended. Mr. Orr will be remembered as one of the old grocery firm of De-normandie Orr & Barber, who were in business in New Castle some years ago. They thought our gathering was wonderful. There were many others from the old home town in attendance who are out here just for the winter season, and all seemed to enjoy the occasion immensely. I am sure when they return home they will comment favorably on our efforts and on California in general.

Those present at this outing were Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Rentz, Dr. Blackwood and wife, Dr. S. N. Bleakley, Mr. and Mrs. William Bleakley and daughter Frances, Mrs. Anna McCune, Miss Viola Dicks, John McCormick, Mrs. Margaret Hice, Margaret Hice, John E. Needless Pain!

People are often too patient with pain. Suffering when there is no need to suffer. Shopping with a head that throbs. Working though they ache all over. And Bayer Aspirin would bring immediate relief!

The best time to take Bayer Aspirin is the moment you first feel the pain. Why postpone relief until the pain has reached its height? Why hesitate to take anything so harmless?

Mr. Rentz Writes Of Visit To Warner Bros. Studio In Hollywood

In a letter written in California, where he is spending some time, Fred L. Rentz, President of The News Company, tells of his visit to the Warner Brothers Studio. This visit was of particular interest, due to the fact that Warner Brothers got their start in the movie business years ago in a little theatre in New Castle. Mr. Rentz's letter follows:

Los Angeles, Cal.,
March 4, 1930.

George W. Conway,
Editor The News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear George:

We were invited to visit the Hollywood Studio of the Warner Brothers today. We did not see any of the Warners. They are harder to get a look at than the king of England or any other king. We looked over the big plant and saw some of the movie boys and girls in action. A picture called "Viennese Nights" was in production but the leading lady, Alice Day, got sick and put the activities on the bum temporarily. She is the star and Vivian Segal is also in the cast in a leading part. We also saw the setting of a picture called "Play Boy." Joe Marks, formerly of Youngstown, O., and known to many New Castle people is a director for the Warners. Dorothy Thorne, a New Castle girl is a stenographer at the First National Studio. This place is a busy one and actors are running to and fro all the time. I hope I never see the day when I will not be able to make a living without having to paint my face—that is bare faced.

I saw a former well known knot hole and saw dust merchant formerly of New Castle who is boosting his head off for California. He is like a lot of others. If he had boosted for New Castle when he was here like he is boosting for California, now he would be out here looking things over instead of working when he gets a chance and he does not name his terms for his work either. Such a boostiness. Heinz preserve and keep us in our prayer.

We spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Garry C. Euwer at Santa Monica. Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Chambers were also at the Euwer home and it was a great day.

Adolph Klee, a brother of Louis R. Klee of New Castle, also lives at Santa Monica. We called on him at his home. He has been sick for two years, but is getting better now.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alexander are here. We have seen Harry, but have not seen Mrs. Alexander yet. A big horse show is on here and Harry will be sure to want to look at the steeds. Five years ago when we were out here, Wm. D. Clark, a brother of Joseph D. Clark came here from Everett, Wash. He did not know we were here and when we called at Mrs. Clark's place on Sunday here was "Bill" and his wife. They did not know we were here and we did not know he was here. Mr. Clark left New Castle over forty years ago and he worked in Max Cosel's clothing store for years back there. He has been a judge and a lot of other things at Everett. It was a big surprise to both of us to meet again under the circumstances. He also attended the Reynolds school with us. He is a brother of Robert and John Clark in New Castle and many will remember him.

Percy McNab and I attended the Rotary club meeting at Hollywood on Tuesday. This club is No. 1970 and the New Castle Club is No. 89. It is a live organization and I met quite a few men from Pittsburgh who were visiting there that day.

There is a lot of talk about the Boulder Dam here. Those of us who get fruit from the Imperial Valley will profit by the building of that dam. The water from it will make wonderful fruit and other products from the most wonderful place in the world. So you see it affects all of us when we get right down to the cold facts.

There are hundreds of people loafing in Pershing Park every day and some of them look as lazy as pet coons. One can sleep in that park the year around. It was crowded all day long with people from all over the United States and the faces of some are a study.

I noticed an item where A. P. Moore, formerly publisher of the Pittsburgh Leader and who has been in the diplomatic service of the United States for some years left the queen of Spain $100,000. He made that money in this country and it seems to be the queen could have gotten along without it when there are so many poor in Pittsburgh who helped him get his money. Well, it's everybody to his own taste as the old lady warbled when she kissed the cow.

We passed a strawberry field yesterday and the ripe strawberries could be seen on the vines from the street. Poor Almee McPherson. They razz her all the time in the newspapers. Well, right must prevail, because they have never succeeded in "getting her yet."

We saw an automobile license from Germany on a car in front of the Biltmore yesterday. It was about 18 inches long and they must have a lot of tin over there if all are as long as the one we saw.

There was a meeting of "The New Castle Ramblers" at Exposition Park last Sunday. I. A. Williamson is secretary of the organization and he is writing an account of the meeting for The News. We were there and met a lot of old time New Castle folks and quite a few who still are for New Castle.

People who have any money out here generally bring it with them. I will have to go back home soon to get some.

A bird in the elevator asked us yesterday if his smoke annoyed us and we told him we did not give a d—n if he burned down. Before he got out he set a lady's fur on fire and it smelled like a dog house burning down.

We met Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Butler of New Castle and Mrs. Stella Webster of Mercer in the Biltmore on Tuesday evening.

Just to show how the anonymous letter writer follow us. If we had been at home one we got here would never have arrived at our desk. We got one addressed to us at Los Angeles and down in the left hand corner was written: "Postmaster O'Brien, Mr. Rentz is located at the same hotel Pres. Coolidge located at recently. Would you please forward this?" "Thanks." This effusion was inspired by the article we wrote about Mrs. Almee McPherson.

On last Sunday evening we had a nice visit with Mr. and Mrs. John B. Trusel. John was a former county detective and post office inspector back in God's country.

On Wednesday afternoon William Bigley came to the hotel and took us out for a ride. He took us to the crest of Lookout Mountain and from this point we had a wonderful view of Los Angeles, Hollywood, Beverly Hills and Santa Monica. Also the ocean in the distance. This mountain is about 3,500 feet high. Bill certainly knows where the sights are. He has charge of a big garage at night. A few mornings ago Bill had just left the garage when two bandits held the place up and made the men on the job lay down on the floor while they looted the till. Thieving seems to be the chief industries here. Bill is the son of Ed. Bigley, the plumber and we have known him all his life, he being a little chap when we lived on Milton street.

Any auto driver who runs against the laws in school zones here gets a fine of from $10 up and the average swipe is $25. Some of the fast drivers in New Castle will remember some of the fines they got while a certain party was mayor of New Castle. We are not naming the mayor.

I am going to do something now that the devil has never done for some birds back in New Castle—Leave you.

Yours until the people begin to use the North street bus.
Yours truly,
FRED L. RENTZ.

Croton Crowd Overflows Church

Win Two Silver Cups With Record Breaking Attendance At Sunday Services

Sunday was a day of triumph and splendor for the members of Croton Avenue Methodist church of which Rev. C. S. Joshua is pastor. An unprecedented congregation filled the Sunday school rooms and church auditorium at all services.

The Sunday school opened with an attendance of 811, which is a record breaker for this church and by having so many present they won a silver trophy cup, which was to be presented to the Sunday school if they attained an attendance of 600 Sunday. The cup is being presented by C. C. French of Erie, a personal friend of the pastor. When the attendance number was read the Sunday school broke into songs of rejoicing.

The second cup was won by the Epworth League, who had an attendance of 85 at their Sunday evening meeting. This cup is being presented by Henry D. Edmunds of Antioch, Pa., if the society had an attendance of 80. William Thomas, head of the boy's department of the Y. M. C. A. made a splendid address at the young people's meeting.

At the evening service the congregation overflowed into the Sunday school rooms, when the pastor delivered his commandment sermon, "Thou Shalt Not Kill." A great stillness reigned in the auditorium while Rev. Joshua presented this sermon in his own inimitable manner. The service closed a most glorious and soul inspiring day and one that will long be remembered by the Croton congregation.

Again! An important featuring of

"Eula Lee" Frocks—Sheer, lovely fashions for home and informal wear

This week, March 10th to 15th, is National Business and Professional Women's Week.

Fashion Memoranda—for the smart business woman

Memo 1—Important!

—Strouss-Hirshberg's is a good place to get fitted up for spring. All the new styles there...and not too extreme for office wear. Nice atmosphere in the store, too...prompt service, and an invariable welcome.

Memo 2—Coats!

—Must have a new one...this season's fitted lines and flares settle that! Doesn't have to be expensive, though. Strouss-Hirshberg's have swankingly tailored tweeds and covert cloths, etc., featured at $25.00.

Memo 3—Hats!

—Easy to find just the right Gage of a half-dozen novel straws and in just the right, bright shades for spring. $6.50.

Memo 4—Dresses!

—Simply won't have trailing trip-peries in the office, but can't afford to look like a back number! Plenty of dresses at Strouss-Hirshberg's with even hemlines—pleats and modified flares. Especially noted two groups of frocks.

"Modified" frocks with 1930's higher waist, and soft neckline effects. Smart, dark shades, and some dashing practical prints...in crepes of unusual quality. $15.00

"Janet Walker" frocks, in prints and bright shades. Could wear them to the office when dinner date follows. Wouldn't think such good-looking, finely tailored dresses could be bought for so little! $19.75

Throughout this week Strouss-Hirshberg's will feature types of apparel especially suited to the business woman.

(Main Floor)

—Printed voiles, and dimities are used to fashion them...in many charming styles.

$1.39

—In sleeveless and short-sleeved effects, to be smartest for spring wear. Washable.

—Admiring groups cluster around "Eula Lee" dresses whenever we show them in our section of home frocks. For women who like to appear at their loveliest at all times, readily see that these crisp styles are just exactly what they want to wear while busy at home or visiting informally! They have printed motifs in sunrise colors...or conventional black and white!...ruffles, capes, contrasting pipings, and other details to make you sure they're the prettiest frocks you ever saw, at such a price! (They'd be excellent values at $1.95!)

New linen dresses—$1.95

—Tailored and rather sporting are these...all white, or white with contrasting embroidered motifs in green, red, blue, or rose. Many are sleeveless, in classic tennis fashion, while others look quite "professional" with elbow-length sleeves. Workmanship and materials are remarkably fine!

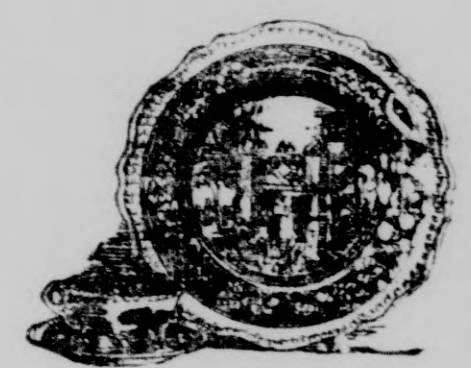

(Main Floor)

Exposition of "SPODE" Bone China and Porcelain One more day—Tuesday!

—Set apart as much of this day as will be required for you to view this display at Strouss-Hirshberg's. Certainly it is a unique collection...bringing together rare pieces, such as one wouldn't expect to see outside a museum, and exquisitely lovely patterns suitable for even a modest home where good taste abides.

Mr. James E. Church

—representing the great Spode factories at Stoke-on-Trent, England, will be here one more day, to tell you interesting facts about the men who first made and used Spode china...150 years ago...and about the art which has made even kings acclaim Spode as tableware worthy of royalty.

200 Spode patterns—ceramic masterpieces

—In this collection are patterns designed especially for Queen Victoria, for Edward VII of England, and for Catherine of Russia...others costing $100 and upwards for a single piece...and designs obtainable in moderately priced sets for $45 for 42 pieces.

Business Women Rate As Modern Phenomenon

(Contributed)
That the modern business woman is a genuine phenomenon and entitled to a special week in recognition of her achievements will be the speedy decision of anyone who scans the figures relative to the presence of women in the business world.
Non-existent, or at best unimportant, yesterday, she is today a factor to be reckoned with, and it will not need the special programs of National Business Women's Week, March 10 to 16, to point out that fact. So dry a source as the census amply substantiates it.
On the eve of a new census we have to go back to the figures published by the government after the 1920 annual enumeration for our data. Yet ten years ago more than eight and a half million women were gainfully employed, and no less an authority than the American Press Association calculates that so rapidly have women swarmed into the business world that there will be 15,000,000 of them when the next census figures are published.
Ten years ago there were but 37 of the 572 occupations which women had not invaded. Now it is doubtful if there are any. Ten years ago clerical workers led the number for women employed, there being 1,426,116 of them. Probably this ratio will be increased by the next census, for the drift is increasingly away from industry to what we would call, if men were occupying them, the "white collar jobs." Possibly this is in a measure due to the educational program of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, which has tended to focus nationwide attention on the value of a better education to the prospective business girl.
A hasty survey of the census figures showed women employed not only in the distinctly feminine occupations, but as architects, landscape gardeners, dentists, designers, draftsmen, inventors, photographers, technical engineers, veterinary surgeons, aeronauts, etc., not to mention the professional women who were judges, college presidents, doctors, lawyers, chemists, authors and editors.
In the face of such statistics who shall say that business women have not an important part in American life?
The senate must have gotten its training from monkeying with the GROVE CITY, March 10.—Many interested persons have called at the home of Misses Amander and Hula Patterson, State street, to view an unusual bloom, an African lily which is on display. Start Brick Work On New Building

Work of laying the brick veneer on the new addition to the holdings of the American Telephone & Telegraph company on the New Bedford road was started last week by Contractor L. A. Haug. Very little was accomplished because of adverse weather conditions, but it is expected to push the work along as fast as the weather will permit.

The building is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy long before the time specified in the contract, Mr. Haug believes.

"Brought Back My Strength"

"My little daughter was born on a homestead in northern Alberta. I had four other children and I worked so hard that I suffered a nervous breakdown. The doctor's tonic did not seem to help me and when a friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to take that instead. I kept on until I felt well again. It brought back my strength. Today I can do anything, thanks to the Vegetable Compound."

The Way OF THE World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

BEING ONE PERSON

Walking down the street you may be a fairly courteous and polite person. Driving an automobile in traffic you may be somebody else. Why the difference? Half the people who are careless, negligent and discourteous in their driving are not ordinarily careless, negligent and discourteous people. They are just suffering from a kind of automobile disease. Put a motorist on his feet and he takes on the habit of thought of a pedestrian. Put a pedestrian in a motor car and he'll condemn the first man he sees who is not alert in darting from the deadly path.

The nature under the veneer of civilization comes out when stimulated by a speeding motor.

A LOST ART

Years ago the writing master taught boys and girls how to write legibly and gracefully. Pupils followed faithfully the copy book style until the writing could be read. Today few can write legibly, whether young folks or grown-ups. Some can write gracefully, with gorgeous curves and all that, but they cannot read it. Today, in or out of the school room, it just isn't considered worth while to bother about writing. Perhaps the idea is that every boy and girl in the modern age is going to be an executive who is going to dictate to a stenographer or at the very worst will learn to use a typewriter.

The decline of plain writing is not a good sign. Life, after all, is pretty much made successful by doing little things well.

GOOD FOR GOLF

It remained for John D. Rockefeller, Sr., wise old gentleman, to discover a great good in golf. It takes the conceit out of a man, says John D. Listening to nineteenth hole discussions and club aftermaths, most of us had taken on the idea that golf put the conceit in. But we must remember that John D. Rockefeller is unusually intelligent and is doubtless capable of learning a great lesson from golf than it holds for most men.

AS TO KEEPING YOUNG

Henry Ford tells the world in an interview to be active and you'll keep young. The reporter then goes on to learn that Mr. Ford likes to walk, run, chop wood and dance. But Mr. Ford is 66 and he is likely to find that too much of his beloved wood-chopping and running activity will make him old rather than keep him young. And yet he is right in principle if he will put the emphasis on the mind. Keep active and you will keep young. Think big thoughts and you won't shrivel up—either in mind or soul. Keep active mentally and you won't get hardening of the brain, which is practically as bad as softening.

School Board To Meet Wednesday

Secretary H. M. Marquis of the New Castle school board announces that a regular meeting of the board will be held at the North street building on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

New Castle Man Sentenced To Works

Nick Lattavo, Pool Room Proprietor Is Given Eight Months

BUTLER, Pa., March 10.—Nick Lattavo, aged 22, proprietor of a pool room in New Castle, who entered a plea of guilty to transporting and possessing liquor, was sentenced by Judge Campbell to pay the costs, a fine of $300 to the state and sentenced to the workhouse for eight months. If, at the end of six months the costs and fine are paid, the court will entertain a petition for parole.

Lattavo was arrested in Slippery Rock recently, after the officers had been tipped off that a car similar to the one the suspect was driving was being used for transporting liquor. The officers found seven pints of liquor in the machine, of which Lattavo was the sole occupant.

Attorney Carmen V. Marinaro, who represented the youth, said his client had been called by telephone by a man in Slippery Rock who asked him to deliver the liquor to him. He read several letters from some of the leading residents of New Castle relative to the youth's reputation in that city, and all the writers stated he was a man of good repute and had never been in trouble before. Lattavo's parents recently moved to Detroit. His father appeared in court Saturday morning in behalf of his son.

Crawford Officers Get Threat Letter

MEADVILLE, Pa., March 10.—Threats against the lives of District Attorney Stuart A. Culbertson and other officials have been made, it became known over the week-end, as a result of an intense campaign against prohibition law violators in Crawford county.

Culbertson said his answer to the threats would be a more active raiding program, and in line with this policy, a raid was made Saturday night on the home of Mike Pitrovich in Woodcock township. Pitrovich was arrested after the raiders said they found a quantity of liquor.

4 "Exact Copies"

OF FAMOUS ORIGINALS WHICH SELL FOR
7 & 10 DOLLARS AT
EXPENSIVE HATTERS

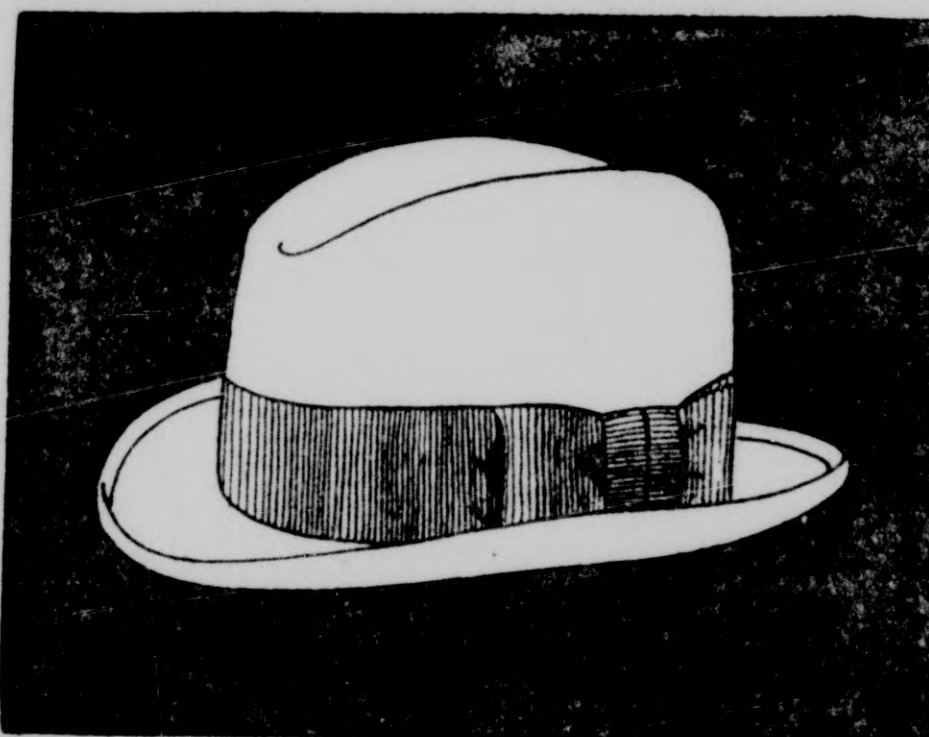

America's smart stores have for years sent their stylists to Paris openings . . . their to secure the highly expensive original creations of famous courtiers. These fashions they "copy exactly" and produce them en masse at but a fraction of the original's cost . . . Fisher's, too, send their stylists to recognized fashion authorities and produce replicas. Pictured on this page are four "Exact Copies" . . . and the name of the expensive Hatters who are featuring them are here suggested. That Fisher's present these successes simultaneously with expensive hatters is proof indeed that Fisher Felts are fashions' latest dictates for men in hats.

Fisher's are the world's largest chain of exclusive $3.45 Hat Stores. At $3.45 Fisher's offer all the style you can buy at any price; a variety of 14 styles in 18 different shades. Some stores somewhere may offer a larger selection, frankly we do not know but we do know that the hats 9 out of 10 men want and wear are here at Fisher's. Fisher Felts have all the quality that is necessary. That terrible looking hat you saw today, was probably on the head of some high priced hat wearer who was trying to get his money's worth. A Replica Of A $10 "W . . . & W" HAT

The St. Moritz is an exact copy of the inspiration of a "mad hatter" whose record of success in producing rare hats for men of taste is not excelled. The snug compact effect that the young man of today dreams of . . . but does not always achieve, is carried to the extreme of his anticipation in this chapeau. It is an extreme model that only the audacious wear but a style that has influenced all hat styles. Chocolate brown and Pearl grey.

A Replica Of A $10.00 Famous D . . . 's HAT

Here's a hat that goes anywhere. It's neatly bound brim of contrasting dark color adds a bit of a sophisticated appearance . . . yet the crisp brim which snaps down in front, like a cadets hat, gives one the easy air of freedom and non-chalantness. It is a brilliant military thing with the graceful youthful formality of a West Pointer. The new white grey and light tan colors are very smart . . . and the back bow a bit distinctive.

A Replica Of A $7.00 "C . . . & K" HAT

This is an "Exact Copy" of a famous 5th Ave., N. Y. Hatter . . . and one that plainly shows the effect of the St. Moritz trend. It is really but a modification of the St. Moritz . . . an adoption that will please the conservative and quietly stylish man. The brim snaps down in front, but the curl in the back is not severe. This hat may be had in pearl, tan, steel, blue, and light brown.

A Replica Of A $8.00 "K" HAT

This hat may best be described as a well edge turban, one that may be snapped up or down with equal ease. The crown is high and tapering, as is the 1930 fashion. In two colors only: The new wine red brown and soft pearl grey.

Jack White Writes Of Wonders Of Arizona

Jack White, son of City Solicitor and Mrs. Robert M. White, who is spending some time in a tour of the south, writes an interesting picture of the sights of southern Arizona in the following letter:

Tucson, Arizona,
March 3, 1930.

Dear Sir:

I have just returned from a week at the Hacienda de la Osa (Ranch of the Bear) which is located near Sasabe, Arizona, right on the Mexican border. Some people will probably think that I am sticking suspiciously close to the border but I want to assure them that it is not intentional.

La Osa is located in some of the most wonderful country I have ever seen. To the south about a quarter of a mile is Mexico with the quaint town of Mesquite which lies asleep among the mountains. Mesquite or as it is sometimes known Sasabe, Sonora, is more typically a Mexican town than Juarez. All the buildings are constructed of adobe. Adobe is merely mud which has been baked into bricks by the heat of the sun. To see some of their roads is to appreciate what we have at home.

On the east and west are mountains. They seem to be quite close but are in reality a great distance off. In these mountains lies a great secret of the desert's lure. They don't keep the same color for fifteen minutes. Many are covered with giant cactus but most of them have very little growth of any kind on them. The level stretches between them are covered with scrubby little trees called mesquite and by many varieties of cactus. Viewed from a distance these plains seem to be vast stretches of water. The distance you can see is limited only by the mountain ranges.

On the north is the Papazo Indian reservation and the most impressive sight in Southern Arizona the mountain called Baboquivari. Baboquivari means "the monument" and in the legends of the Papazo's is the home of their gods. It is the mountain Harold Bell Wright speaks of in his book "Long Ago Told." It can be seen for a hundred miles or more in any direction.

The Papazo Indians are an agricultural people and always have been. They are also very skilled in weaving baskets and making horse hair goods. As a rule they are quite fat.

"There are many birds and animals seen in this territory. Mountain lions, coyotes and thousands of jack rabbits. There are also still many wild horses roaming the hills and a short way into Mexico are many deer and wild hogs. The birds consist chiefly of dove, quail, runners and a few eagles. You can hardly ride any distance without coming across ravens eating a dead horse or steer.

Although Arizona is noted for its lack of water when it rains it often causes disaster to roads and even to persons travelling them. The first indication one has of this is in the way the roads are built. There are no bridges but wherever a stream crosses the road there is a dip. The streams are usually dry. By dry I mean absolutely dry without any water standing in them any where. However when it rains the water rushes down the stream bed in a high wall of water. This is very hard to believe but a wall of water rushing across a road has been known to completely destroy cars and lose them and their driver for all time. To try and beat this water sometimes nine feet high is like trying to beat a train to the crossing. I hardly expect many people to believe this but it is a fact although the wall of water is not often so exceptionally high.

The rise of the moon in the evening gives an impression much like a stage set. The mountains are set off by a light behind them that looks as bright as day. Just as though on the other side of them it was day time.

There is no more wonderful place I have ever seen for riding. There is no limit to what you can see. An Indian trading post, Baboquivari, many deserted ranches, mountains, gullies, herds of cattle, and wild horses and the Mexican fort where the last battle of the recent revolution took place and also the most bloody.

Besides this La Osa is the post of entry for all cattle brought from Mexico to the United States. Here they are dipped, branded and counted by government officials. The people who kick about the four cent gas tax should be down here. Thirty cents is the cheapest and forty cents in Mexico.

If a business man should want to

Right Idea

This three year old athlete is the son of Mrs. M. Sarsfield, 5131 Hoopes St., Philadelphia. She says: "Jackie's wonderful condition shows my idea is right."

"Whenever he's the least cross or upset, or has a cold, I give him a little California Fig Syrup. It always brightens him up; regulates his stomach and bowels; gives him a hearty appetite. I have used it with Jackie since he was a year old, and it has never failed to help him promptly." All children love the rich, fruity flavor of California Fig Syrup. A pure vegetable product, it doesn't gripe or sicken. It always acts gently but thoroughly to cleanse the system of bilious, headachy, constipated children. Doctors say it tones and strengthens weak bowels. Try it with your child. See how bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness disappears. The name California marks the genuine, famous for 50 years. So look for it when buying.

get away from all his cares Southern Arizona is the place. We were forty miles from a phone, seventy from railroad and telegraph and mail came only twice a week.

In Arizona you can still file a claim against government land and homestead it. You can get about 46 acres just for the asking if you will live-out and cultivate the land. But then that isn't much where 2000 acres is a small ranch. All this land is fenced now although branding has not been done away with and there are still plenty of cowboys.

The horses are sleepy little devils who are far from that and as sure footed as sin. They have to stand up under plenty large saddles and ten gallon hats too.

Of course the principal sports are still roping, riding and ranging. The three R's with rustling left out for the only bad men (and also women) come from the east now days.

One thing about the cowboy he likes to dress up still and he'll spend his last cent on a calfskin vest or a good looking pair of chaps.

The chief amusement at the ranch in the line of indoor sports was Al-Jen Kearns, a Broadway funny man, who was truly "the life of the party." Kearns played in "Little Jesse James" which saw three years in New York, two in London and another on tour of the United States. Recently he led the fun in "Funny Face" and "Here's How." He is a typical musical comedy star and like all the rest of them has turned to Hollywood. He was cast in Richard Dix's new picture and is about to begin one of his own. He kept the ranch guests splitting their sides with laughter. His imitation of Queen Victoria bowing to her subjects was absolutely the best thing I have ever seen. With him was another Hollywood man, Mr. Palmer, who is under contract to write scenarios for R. K. O. who has by the way, promised to take us through the studios of that company in Hollywood.

I was sorry when it came time to leave and I have a feeling that like everyone else who has seen this country, I will come back again sometime again.

Sincerely Yours,
Jack White.

Plaingrove School News

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

The high school play "Daddy", a three-act comedy, will be presented in the Plaingrove high school auditorium next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The music will be furnished by the Plaingrove school orchestra, and an evening of delightful entertainment is assured to all these who come. The cast includes two freshmen, one sophomore, two juniors and three seniors.

Howard Rodgers, perhaps better known as Plaingrove high school's roving guard on the basketball team, also has the star role in this production, being "Daddy" or Wrex Brown, the honorable gentleman himself, who is just like his fellow men. Charles Masters plays the part of the young son, Ted Brown, who is pursuing football at college rather than his studies. Paul Chester, alias James Stevenson, is an entertaining young doctor with very promising prospects, though his aunt is very much displeased with him and thinks his knowledge of medicine quite limited because he can't name all of her imaginary ailments. John McNulty has the part of Thompson, the Brown's butler. The role of Eleanor Brown, the charming young daughter of Wrex Brown, who is just making her debut in society, is played by Lillian Patterson.

Dorothy Brennehan plays the part of Mrs. Wrex Brown, who is just like her fellow women. Mrs. Chester, sister of Mrs. Wrex Brown, alias Irene Caldwell, will no doubt be the laugh of the evening. To hear her talk she has all the diseases known to medical science, and a dozen others besides. Her constant worrying and talk of her ill health, which is only a product of her great imagination, promises to keep every one in an uproar. Louise Miles has the part of Jane, the dignified cook of the Brown family.

DEEP SNOW

Because of the roads being so drifted, school buses were unable to get to the school on Monday so many of the students enjoyed a holiday.

CONTEST

Next Friday evening, March 14, Dorothy Brennehan and Irene Caldwell will represent Plaingrove high school in oration and vocal at Wampum in the class B literary contest.

DEATH OF MRS. GUARNIERI
The many friends in this community of the Guarnieri family are deeply saddened to hear of the double tragedy in the Guarnieri home recently. Two weeks ago their home was destroyed by fire, but sadder yet was the death of Mrs. Guarnieri, who died at the Mercer hospital Wednesday morning following severe burns received in the fire.

SCHOOL NOTES

The high school students are conducting a magazine contest. There are two teams, the Red Flights and Blue Flights, each team having an equal number of members. The side selling the most subscriptions wins and the losing side banquets the winners. Howard Rodgers was chosen teams manager and Lillian Patterson captain of the Red Flights and Eleanor Rodgers captain of the Blue Flights.

Classmates of Gertrude McKisick, Olga Fascetti and Robert Oakes are sorry to hear of their illness and hope they will soon be back to school with us.

School reporters,
Lillian Patterson and Elva Hohmann.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Will Put On Dance

Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold a dance at Danceland on April 12. Through some misunderstanding it was reported to the officers of the American Legion that tickets were being sold for a dance on that date and supposed to be sponsored by the Legion. The Legion having nothing on that date, warning was issued to that effect. The Legion officers regret the circumstances and hope the public will endorse and support the dance to be given by the V. F. W. Auxiliary.

German-Indian Club To Meet

The Kin-La-Ok-La, otherwise "The Beaver People" organized recently for the study of the culture of the American Indian and Germanic races, will hold its next regular meeting on Friday evening of this week at the home of Andrew Binder, 1119 Howard Way. Prince E-kus-kini, Sachem of Tellico, Cherokee Indian, who is head of the new organization, and appointed the various officers named at the recent organization meeting, will be the speaker of the evening, having as his subject "The American Indian, His Culture and History."

It is anticipated that the membership of the organization, which is limited to persons of Germanic and Indian descent, will be materially increased in a short time.

Hundreds Witness Fast Game At Shelby Hall Saturday Night

Fast Fintex Five Wins Over
Shelby Picked Team By
Score Of 30-24

Largest Crowd Of Season
Turns Out To See Speedy
Floor Work On Display

ELLWOOD CITY, March 10.—A fast and smooth basketball team known as the Fintex from Pittsburgh, made their first appearance here Saturday night and took the bacon back home as they topped the Shelby All-Stars with a score of 30-24, in an interesting contest at the Shelby auditorium. The battle was delayed until a late hour due to some difficulty of several visiting players in arriving here.

One of the largest crowds of the season turned out to see the Pittsburgh lads in action against the cream of the Shelby league. The tilt was not one sided, as the Tubers proved to be a stubborn crew and furnished plenty of opposition for the visiting quint. The former Morry five presented a well-groomed machine with elegant ease handled the leather and also displayed some fine team work.

The opponents started in strong, but as the first period ended the locals were just behind them as the count stood 9-6. Shelby continued their fine playing and the half found the visitors still holding the lead 17-11.

In the third session the Tubers got together and threw a scare into the enemy as Joe Latiano started tossing baskets from all angles of the floor, giving his team mates a 24 to 19 lead at the end of the third stanza.

As the last part of the tilt got under way, the Fintex were forced to rally in order to overcome the lead obtained by the Tubers. This they did with that lanky star, Losman, furnishing most of the pointers.

Those who anticipated seeing the star Fintex center, Losman, in action, were not disappointed in his performance. This big lad proved to the assemblage his ability to toss them in by caging six pointers. He makes very good use of his giant stature and gave a fine exhibition of basketball. Wy Paris, Lippe and White also contributed in the scoring.

Joe Latiano and Jim Fitzgerald lead the attack against the visitors as the former caged four pretty goals and the latter came through with three. Joe's work in the third period was a sensational performance which enabled him to take the lead. Greco, who was pitted against Losman, played well until he was forced out on account of an injury.

John Ruzkovic and Floyd Worrel are to be congratulated on bringing such an attraction here for the benefit of local fans. This was the first visit of the Pittsburgh quint here. Bob McKinny, who coached the Shelby All-Stars, deserves commendation for displaying a strong quint against a crew of veterans.

Moscow's Brand of Soviet 'Culture'

"Red Thursday" in the United States was marked by lawless demonstrations of organized Communists in our principal cities. The celebrations were carried out under direct orders from Moscow. Above pictures show the brand of Communism in Moscow at the present time, which is alien to the ideals of the United States. At the extreme left is pictured the Church of Semenov in all its majestic grandeur, one of the most historic churches in Russia. (Above) The grand old edifice where pious Moscovites went to pray, after it had been demolished by crazed Soviets in their rush toward atheism. America In The 20th Century

The Beginning Of Taft's Administration

IN THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION OF 1908, WILLIAM H. TAFT OF OHIO, THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEE, TRIUMPHED OVER WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN OF NEBRASKA, THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE. TAFT HAD PROVED HIS ABILITY AS GOVERNOR GENERAL OF THE PHILIPPINES AND SECRETARY OF WAR UNDER ROOSEVELT, WHOM HE NOW SUCCEEDED. TAFT STOOD FOR THE POLICIES OF HIS PREDECESSOR.

AFTER LEAVING THE WHITE HOUSE, THEODORE ROOSEVELT DEPARTED FOR A BIG GAME HUNT IN THE WILDS OF AFRICA (MARCH, 1909). FREQUENT NEWSPAPER ACCOUNTS OF THIS EXPEDITION KEPT THE EX-PRESIDENT IN THE PUBLIC EYE, AND ON HIS RETURN (JUNE, 1910) HE RECEIVED A ROUSING WELCOME.

IN 1909 A THRILLING PAGE WAS ADDED TO THE RECORD OF AMERICAN ADVENTURE AND ACHIEVEMENT. ON APRIL 6TH OF THAT YEAR ROBERT E. PEARY, FAMOUS ARCTIC EXPLORER AND OFFICER OF THE UNITED STATES NAVY, REACHED THE NORTH POLE. ANNOUNCEMENT OF HIS FEAT WAS MADE ON SEPT. 6, 1909. PEARY WAS MADE A REAR ADMIRAL AND GIVEN THE THANKS OF CONGRESS BY A SPECIAL ACT (1911).

TAFT, BEFORE HIS ELECTION, HAD PROMISED TO LOWER THE TARIFF. IN MARCH, 1909, THE HOUSE LED BY CONGRESSMAN PAYNE, PASSED A TARIFF BILL CONTAINING MARKED REDUCTIONS. THE BILL WAS BLOCKED IN THE SENATE BY THE "STAND-PATTERS" LED BY SENATOR ALDRICH. THE RESULT WAS A COMPROMISE TARIFF, THE "PAYNE-ALDRICH LAW," HAVING FEW REDUCTIONS. THIS ACT WAS UNPOPULAR IN THE MIDDLE WEST.

New Castle Defeats Waynesburg High 23-16 In Schoolboy Tourney

Wainio And Captain Alexander Star For Local Undeatable Quintet

Regis McAuley Plays Outstanding Defensive Game; Cowan Scores Four Times

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—In a game full of cautious playing, the New Castle high school Section Three winners advanced to the semi-finals of the W. P. I. A. L. tourney at the Pitt Stadium on Saturday night when they defeated a smart and fast Waynesburg High team. The final whistle blew with the Lawrence county basketball passers on top, 23-16. A crowd of 1,500 saw Coach Phil Bridenbaugh's team win its 18th straight victory of the season and advance to the semi-finals of the title race.

Captain Alexander-Wainio Star. The local passers who were mainly responsible for the defeat of the Greene county team were Captain Alexander and Francis Wainio. Wainio sent the ball through the hoops three times and made three out of four fouls, while Captain Alexander also got the ball through the cords three times and annexed one foul out of three tries. Regis McAuley was called on to face Black. Waynesburg's outstanding forward. And what a job Mr. McAuley made of it. He held Black scoreless—a thing that few guards have been able to do.

Cowan was the whole works for the leasers. In the final half of play Cowan scored three field goals. He made two pretty shots from the center of the court. Outside of Cowan the remainder of the Waynesburg team was held in check while the New Castle artists piled up enough points to keep a lead.

Both Teams Played Carefully.

Both teams played deliberately and cautious basketball. They were careful of every pass and shot. Both quintets maneuvered to get open shots which were few. In several instances the last attack of Wainio, Alexander and Hannon eluded the opponents which resulted in points.

The first quarter saw the New Castle eagles missing enough shots under the basket to win two ball games. They couldn't place their shots. In fact both teams appeared ragged. Waynesburg took the lead at 7-4 as the first quarter ended. Cowan tallied the first goal of the game from the side of the court. Cowan added two more via the foul method. Captain Alexander made the first goal for the winners from the foul line. Bradford made a nice shot on a rebound to give Waynesburg a 6-2 lead. McCurdy tallied a foul to give Waynesburg its seven points in the first quarter. Hannon dribbled through for one to give New Castle four points.

New Castle Leads at Half 13-7.

During the short intermission between quarters the New Castle boys must have talked things over. Shortly after the whistle blew to start the second quarter Nick Uram made one of his famous one-hand shots from the side. A minute later Wainio fiddled and pivoted among several of Waynesburg's team. Finally he got loose and dribbled through to give New Castle a six-point lead. Alexander scored one foul out of two tries as the second quarter ended. Score, New Castle 13, Waynesburg 7. Waynesburg failed to score one point in this period.

New Castle made one of the greatest rallies seen at the stadium in this tourney in the second quarter. The third quarter was exactly like the first quarter with both teams ragged. Nick Uram scored his second goal of the game at the start of the third quarter. Bradford scored one for Waynesburg. This was all the scoring that was done in this period. Alexander and Cowan missed foul tries. The third quarter was slow and ended 15-9 with New Castle on top.

Waynesburg put forth every bit of effort to overcome the Lawrence countyans in the final period. They started out by crowding the New Castle defense. In the latter part of the quarter Cowan made three pretty shots for goals, which placed Coach Bridenbaugh in a nervous situation for a while. Wainio made two fouls. Alexander scored his second tally of the game after scrambling for the ball. Then Mr. Cowan made his rally. First he made a pretty shot from the center of the court.

A minutes later he made another two-point from the foul line. Hardly had the referee tossed the ball when this same Cowan made another goal.

The Detroit Tigers were after Bair along with Joe Hospider of Youngstown, a young man who has pitched in this city a number of times. Bair however has elected to try for a big league berth with the Philadelphia team.

Bair for a number of years has pitched good ball for independent and semi-pro teams in this district and has been especially effective against the Homestead Greys.

Delahunty And Rice Of Westminster Given First-Team Jobs In Tri-State Selections

DUKES-BETHANY GET OTHER THREE

The season is here. Now is the time when all good coaches and sport writers will try and appease the appetite for mythical all-something teams by popular choice. The first All-Tri-State Conference team is herewith presented. It was selected by twelve coaches and the boys seem to have a fair idea of playing material.

Westminster College, Tri-State champs get two places on the first team, and two on the second team. Bethany gets two places on the first team and one on the second. Benedict is the lone Duquesne man chosen on the first team, which would be right of course, because their can only be five on the first team, and Benedict rightfully belongs with the best. Duquesne drew one man on the second team also. Waynesburg drew one man on the second team.

Delahunty and Rice drew the Westminster berths, the former at a forward and Rice at a guard, and the choices are conceded to be "right". Telfair of Bethany got the center job over "Red" Crowell for no good reason at all, except that Westminster had two men on the first team, but don't kid yourself into thinking that the West Middlesex boy is not good, he is that. Damschroeder of Bethany is the other guard on the first team, and is entitled to it. Benedict is the other forward and would pair with Delahunty in good style. Although he could be placed at a guard job just as well. O'Donovan a wonderful ball hawk and leader is on the second team. "Donny" was not outstanding this year due to his job in directing the play of the Titan team.

Following is the selections made by the coaches:

First Team.	Second Team.
Benedict, Duquesne	F. O'Donovan, West.
Delahunty, Westminster	C. Crowell, West.
Telfair, Bethany	C. White, West.
Rice, Westminster	G. Fading, Beth.
Damschroeder, Beth.	G. Fading, Beth.
Honorable mention—Forwards: Avery, Waynesburg; Friedman and Fair, Geneva; Bush, Bethany; Wardle, Thiel; Coaters, McGeever, Duquesne; Ranson, Geneva; McGeever, Westminster; Guards: Lubie, Duquesne; McCoy, Thiel.

Hillsville Will Play Bessemer

It will be a big night Wednesday in Hillsville said Patsy Colucci today in speaking of the floor game Wednesday between Hillsville and Bessemer's independent basketball teams, boys and girls. The game will start at 8 o'clock and a packed High school floor is looked for.

There is considerable rivalry between the two towns in regard to their floor prowess and the thing is going to be settled with a lot of leather tossing.

Two Games In Church League

Two games are on tap tonight in the New Castle Church League. The first game starts at 8 o'clock. The Mahoning M. E. boys tackle the First Baptists in the first game on the bill, and the Central Presbyterians have the Wesley M. E. team as their opponents in the second game.

There is no City League game, the league season having ended for the City Leaguers.

The chief trouble with the weather man is that, when he gets a good thing, he seldom sticks with it.—The Indianapolis Star.

Friedman-Rocco Here St. Patrick's Night

Seven Games In Boy's Circuit

Fight fans of New Castle will see a choice 10 round tilt here St. Patrick's night when Al Friedman, Boston and Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City clash in a ten round bout at the Jolly bowl. Friedman fought Tuffy Griffith, Chicago sensation recently at Boston and almost had Tuffy out in the seventh round. Rocco milled with Ed Keeley, a southpaw of Bridgeport and won a technical knockout in the sixth session a week ago tonight at the Jolly Bowl.

Rocco required a tuning up before he took on such a seasoned and capable battler as the Boston heavyweight and with the Keeley heavy-chutched in his glove is ready for anything the Bostonian may have.

Friedman is training at Boston as he emerged from the Boston scrap with considerable prestige as Jack Sharkey had refused to take on Sharkey who picked Faintin' Phil Scott for the Miami fiasco.

Dick Evans, Youngstown, will meet Red Jadabard, of Jamestown in the six round semifinal at 162 pounds. Frankie Lands, this city will tackle Don Morse, Jamestown. In a six rounder at 122 pounds and Tommy Arnold and Billy Murphy, local welterweights meet in the opener.

Ruth Is Highest Paid In Baseball

Babe Ruth Gets $80,000 Per Season With Yankees As Highest Paid Of Players

SETS PRECEDENT IN NATIONAL GAME

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 10.—The little boy prepped wistfully out upon the world from an orphanage window and wondered what lay beyond the picket fence with spokes just wide enough to let a baseball roll right out of a boy's life forever. Today, many years later, he knows.

It is a very fine world to Babe Ruth, the wistful boy who became a great animal of a man, a little arrogant perhaps but still natural and unspoiled and every inch the $80,000-a-year player that baseball will make him today when he signs a 1936-37 contract with the Yankees. Baseball, never particularly intelligent, probably has been smart beyond its normal limitations this time.

The contract that Ruth accepted from the Yankees on Saturday may turn out to be more than a mere covenant between employer and employee. It is quite possible that it will develop into an insurance policy, guaranteeing that Ruth will continue to be a great ball player for at least two years more, and at the price, the agreement is a bargain. In any case, the $80,000 specified is simply the premium on a million dollars' worth of effort and, with a man like Ruth, effort is tantamount to accomplishment.

May He Suffer

Perhaps the years have taken their slight toll of speed from the legs that have chased their countless quota of fly balls. Maybe Ruth no longer takes those die-hard chances on the bases. But times haven't changed the mind that delights in what the ball field offers or the will to win that obsesses it. Ruth is the same enthusiast he was thirty years ago when he broke a slot out of his crib to use as a baseball bat.

He hasn't changed. He never will.

NEW CASTLE DEFEATS WAYNESBURG HIGH 23-16

from the center. The score now favored New Castle 19-13 and put a scare in the followers of the New Castle team as well as the coach. New Castle decided it was time to tell things over again and called time out. The lecture must have done some good as Wainio came out and made one of his famous dribbles to give New Castle an eight-point lead. Alexander clinched the tilt when he made his third goal of the fracas as the game was coming to an end. Black tallied a foul to place the score 23-16 in favor of New Castle as the final whistle sounded.

Waynesburg Has Good Team.

New Castle in meeting Waynesburg met a quintet that proved a real opponent. Waynesburg at times proved just as smart as New Castle. But in the tight places the experience of the winners showed up. Although New Castle won they did not look like the New Castle that smothered North Union last week. They appeared slow and ragged. They will have to play better basketball if they want that W. P. I. A. L. cup. Waynesburg has a good team.

Captain Alexander, Francis Wainio and the defensive playing of McAuley featured while Cowan was the outstanding performer for the Mason coached machine.

The victory was the 13th of the season for New Castle and advanced them to the semi-finals of the tournament. One thousand five hundred witnessed the game.

Here is the summary of the game:

Champions Defend Crowns in Miami

From the Atlantic Coast to the mid-Pacific shores of Hawaii, the American Athletic Union has planned a program for an active swimming year for 1936. Grove City Will Play Final Game With Duquesne U.

Captain "Red" Ryan and Marcus Rankin To Play Final Games For Crimson

GROVE CITY, Pa., March 10.—The Grove City College basketball squad has prepared for the final game of the year with Duquesne here Tuesday night by staying away from the gymnasium. The "absent" treatment was prescribed by Coach Thorn after the Grovers had showed signs of being late in the last two games.

Believing that the squad has been overworked in the tag-end of the season, Coach Thorn abandoned all work last week. Monday, the boys were scheduled for a light drill, and the Crimson mentor believes they will again be on edge for the important game with the Dukes. The battle will be the last of the season for both squads.

The game with Chick Davies' crew is attracting a good deal of interest here here due largely to the fact that a Pittsburgh team has not appeared in Grove City for several years. Fans in general are looking forward to the duel between Bud Stevens and Grove City's diminutive forward, Vernard Pegley. These two boys are the smallest players in the tri-state district, but are ranked with the best when clever floor play is considered.

Coach Thorn announced today that Captain Ryan would likely be in the starting five despite a broken nose that troubles his breathing. This will conclude a great basketball career for the Grove City captain. Marcus Rankin is the only other Crimson player to finish his athletic competition at Grove City. The Uniontown boy has been the outstanding performer for Coach Thorn in the last five games, four of which have been lost.

Although Larry Johnson, the smashing smoke from Chicago, lost one of those official "blind mice" decisions to gamey Pete Latzo in New York City recently, the boxing powers sought to assure the brutal injustice of that raw verdict by permitting him to box Maxie Rosenbloom in the current light-heavy-weight eliminations.

Technically Latzo earned that match. Referee Jim Crowley called the infamous phantom foul that won for Jack Delaney against Paulino a year and half ago.

The time of the meeting was changed to Friday evenings at 7:30 instead of Wednesday evenings as that evening will be more convenient for all concerned.

Kandy Kids Trim West Pittsburg

The Wampum Kandy Kids registered another win when they toppled the fast stepping West Pittsburg Billiards in a hard fought game by a 28 to 19 score. The West Pittsburg aggregation, showing a decidedly improved team since they last played the Kandy Kids, put up a stubborn battle all during the game and the fans were kept on their feet until late in the last quarter when the "Kids" put the game on ice.

The game started off slow and it looked like another walkaway for the Wampum "5" as they were leading by a 7 to 1 count as the first period ended. West Pittsburg came back to life during the second period and held the locals to 3 free tosses while they themselves garnered 3 two-pointers, making the score 10 to 7 as the half ended. With the beginning of the third period, West Pittsburg played heads up ball and the Wampum team was forced to play the very best they knew how to emerge on the long end of a 18 to 13 score as the third quarter was up and tuck all the way through and the last minute rally by the "Kids" sewed up the game.

White, Boone, and Aiello, showed up well for the Wampum team while the playing of Beres for the Billiards was outstanding.

Summary: Kandy Kids: Boone 3; White 2; Aiello 2; R. Elssesser 1; J. Elssesser 1; C. Cochran 1; DeMark 1; G. Quinn 1; Ferrucci 1; Kandy Kids: Boone 3.

"RUMP" GATHERING
HELD IN ILLINOIS

By EUGENE J. CADOU

International News Service Staff

Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS, March 10.—Nearly 1,000 delegates assembled today for what will be one of the most momentous international conventions of the United Mine Workers of America.

As the mine workers gathered at Tomlinson hall here, less than 200 miles away at Springfield, Ill., rebel mine union leaders were opening a so-called "rump" convention.

Despite the revolt in Illinois and a threatened rebellion in Kansas, international union chiefs today predicted a peaceful gathering here, although the Illinois situation was certain to be considered.

Big Representation.
Almost 30 per cent of the Illinois local mine unions were represented at the Indianapolis convention, officials asserted.

The meeting was called to order by Adolph Fritz, secretary of the Indiana State Federation of Labor, who introduced Messrs. Francis H. Gavick and Dr. Ernest N. Evans, secretary of the Indianapolis Church Federation, who delivered the invocations.

Addresses of welcome were to be delivered by City Attorney James E. Deery and by T. N. Taylor, president of the Indiana State Federation of Labor, and an official of the Central Labor Union of Indianapolis.

Credentials Report.
Much of the time today was to be taken up with a report of the credentials committee. A committee on rules and order also was to be appointed.

Delegates are awaiting with considerable interest a joint report of President John L. Lewis, Vice-President Phillip Murray and Secretary Thomas Kennedy, which was scheduled early this afternoon. This report will be submitted to a special committee for approval, alteration or rejection.

Huge Boulder Blocks Traffic

(International News Service)
CINCINNATI, O., March 10.—Traffic in Elberton avenue here was blocked recently when a boulder weighing more than a ton fell from the side of a hill opposite Mount Echo Park.

Bo' Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK.

Ever since H. L. Mencken became the favorite highbrow author of Harlem's Ebony and Ivory Belt, gold teeth, once the rage there, have given way to gold eyelashes.

Hush! Hush!

The din of the riveter is still heard from early morn till late at night along the far reaches of Manhattan.

And because of frequent complaints to the board of health by nervous residents, the builders, once callous and overbearing, are becoming the most apologetic. The creator of a Wall Street skyscraper had cards of commiseration engraved which he sent out to tenants in adjacent offices. His grief at the inconvenience he said he knew he was causing was pitiful.

Over in Gramercy Park a tall apartment just completed bears a sign on its facade:

"The last rivet in this building has been driven. We are glad, too!"

Springtime of Youth

Everybody's wondering why Frank Harris, at 76, scribbling his valedictory to the world of letters, should have ignored the great men he has known during the past fifty years and based his book on a twelve-month he spent as cowpuncher, Indian fighter, cattle rustler and companion of "Wild Bill" Hickok, on the Texas border at the age of 17.

"The most natural thing in the world. For the last ten years old Frank Harris has been dreaming of his villa in Nice; and when you're past 70 and fall to dreaming out under a rose tree in the sun, it is a hard way back to the Springtime of Youth that the Road to Yesterday leads.

"Don't wonder I find my mind wandering into the open prairies of my earlier years," he says. "Kings and cowboys I have known and the cowboys stand out above the rest. I am six thousand miles from them at this moment, and almost sixty Mister Koehn), is a delightful bit of color in rose, green and white. The bread, tinted with harmless vegetable dye, is spread with snowy cream cheese, interlaced with dabs of pimento, green relish and nuts. Then there's a curly layer of lettuce daintily ruffled around the edges.

All psychologically evolved. All weird, wild and wondrous.

Back to Nature

Otis Swift, a reporter for a New York newspaper, used to go out into the country on his day off and come back with pieces of rock, with leaves, buds, blooms, roots, weeds and all that sort of rot.

He fell into the way of writing engaging little nature poems, in prose, for the paper and these lent a new meaning to spring, summer, autumn and winter—to green fields and running brooks; birds and insects; gray webs spun from russet leaves—the winter colors of the woods, ice-coated underbrush, the song of the wind among the ditch reeds.

One day it occurred to him that in a nervous, dusty, smoky city like New York there must be thousands of men and women chained six days a week to slave-blocks of steel and stone who maybe might relish a day's walk in the country.

Timidly he advanced the idea. On that first walk, some years ago, 12 men and women foregathered to troop the countryside with Brother Swift learning from him the gentle art of looking and listening. Today his Order of Yosians has a membership of fifty thousand.

Swift is fulfilling a very definite and useful function in life.

COLORADO SEEKS MORE WAGES FOR WOMEN WORKERS

(International News Service)
DENVER, Colo., March 10.—Because "it is impossible for a girl to supply herself with the bare necessities of life and at the same time remain decent and respectable" in face of inability to enforce the minimum wage law for women, the Colorado industrial commission is preparing to carry its fight to the people and force employers to pay adequate wages by arousing public indignation.

"We realize that generally the wages of women are disgracefully low. It is impossible for a girl today to supply herself with the bare necessities of life and remain a decent girl. Our girls and our boys, too, are naturally decent and want to remain so if they are given half a chance," said Thomas Annear, chairman of the commission, in answering a resolution of the Colorado State Federation of Labor calling on the commission to enforce the minimum wage laws.

"Several years ago the Colorado legislature passed a women's minimum wage law giving the industrial commission the power to fix a wage for women," continued Annear. "but no appropriation has ever been made by the legislature for the enforcement of the act."

"On April 2, 1923, the United States supreme court, in what is known as the Adkins case, decided that minimum wage laws were unconstitutional. This case was appealed to the supreme court from the District of Columbia.

"In 1925 the court decided that the Arizona and Arkansas wage laws were unconstitutional. This is the reason that the commission has not tried to enforce the state's act."

Annear said the commission has employed an investigator to compile the average wages paid women in various activities in each section of the state, and when he is finished a report will be prepared for comparison on living costs to deduce the amount each woman worker should receive for a bare living wage.

When the comparative report is completed, according to Annear, it will include startling revelations and the commission, powerless to enforce the minimum wage law, hopes that the publication and circulation of the report will arouse public sentiment and force an improvement in conditions.
